This unit is for those who plan, deliver and evaluate teaching and learning activities for individual pupils or groups of pupils under the teacher's guidance or instructions.

What is this unit about?

This unit is about planning and delivering teaching and learning activities to complement, reinforce or extend teaching and learning planned and delivered by the teacher. They may be delivered in the classroom or any setting where teaching and learning takes place such as field studies, educational visits, extended hours provision and study support arrangements. Planning, implementation and evaluation will also cover any partnership working with the teacher as part of the overall lesson plan, for example when working with the whole class in a plenary session.

Teaching and learning activities should take place under the direction and supervision of a qualified teacher in accordance with arrangements made by the headteacher of the school.

UNIT SUMMARY

Who is this unit for?

This unit is for those who work with teachers and others to support gifted and talented pupils.

Teaching and learning activities should take place under the direction and supervision of a qualified teacher in accordance with arrangements made by the headteacher of the school.

This unit contains two elements:

- 34.1 Work with others to develop learning programmes for gifted and talented pupils
- 34.2 Support learning activities for gifted and talented pupils

Linked units

- STL18 Support pupils' learning activities
- STL23 Plan, deliver and evaluate teaching and learning activities under the direction of a teacher
- STL24 Contribute to the planning and evaluation of teaching and learning activities

Glossary of terms used in this unit

Acceleration	provided by extending the 'pitch' of learning objectives to those expected of older pupils or introducing objectives from later years
Enrichment	applying skills and understanding to a wider range of problems, including unfamiliar contexts, and bringing together different strands of the subject or curriculum area
Extension	working in greater depth, with increasing complexity, subtlety or abstraction
Gifted pupils	pupils who have exceptional academic abilities
Learning resources	materials, equipment (including ICT), software, books and other written materials (eg. handouts, worksheets), DVDs, etc. that are required to support teaching and learning
Personalised learning	maintaining a focus on individual progress, in order to maximise the capacity of all children and young people to learn, achieve and participate. This means supporting and challenging each learner to achieve national standards and gain the skills they need to thrive and succeed throughout their lives. Talented pupils	pupils who have exceptional abilities in art and design, music, PE or in sports or performing arts such as dance and drama
Relevant people	people within and outside the school who can help in identifying gifted and talented pupils and acceleration, extension and enrichment activities appropriate to their needs and abilities. This includes subject specialists in the school and also in the next stage of education (eg. secondary or FE/HE), local business people, undergraduate and postgraduate students with particular gifts and/or talents. The families of gifted and talent pupils will have a good understanding of their child and his/her needs for an enriched curriculum, as will the pupils themselves.

This unit contains three elements:

- 38.1 Contribute to the inclusion of children with disabilities and special educational needs
- 38.2 Help children with disabilities and special educational needs to participate in the full range of activities and experiences
- 38.3 Support families to respond to children's needs

STL54 Plan and support self-directed play

Glossary of terms used in this unit

Affective play	play that involves the children or young people experiencing or experimenting with emotions, feelings and attitudes
Barriers to access	things that prevent or discourage children and young people from taking part in play provision. These may include physical barriers for disabled children, but could also include wider issues such as discrimination, lack of positive images, lack of culturally acceptable activities and customs, language barriers and many other factors that affect different communities
Children and young people	non-disabled and disabled children and young people in the age range four to six years, both girls and boys, from all cultures and backgrounds
Communication play	play using words, nuances or gestures, eg. mime, jokes, play acting, mickey-taking, singing, debate, poetry
Creative play	play which allows a new response, the transformation of information, awareness of new connections, with an element of surprise, eg. enjoying creation with a range of materials and tools, for its own sake
Deep play	play which allows the child to encounter risky or even potentially life-threatening experiences, to develop survival skills and conquer fear, eg. leaping onto an aerial runway, riding a bike on a parapet, balancing on a high beam
Disabled children	children with impairments who experience barriers to accessing mainstream childcare and play facilities. This includes children with physical and sensory impairments, learning and communication difficulties, medical conditions, and challenging and complex needs which may be permanent or temporary
Dramatic play	play which dramatises events in which the child is not a direct participator, eg. presentation of a TV show, an event on the street, a religious or festive event, even a funeral
Exploratory play	play to access factual information consisting of manipulative behaviours such as handling, throwing, banging or mouthing objects, eg. engaging with an object or area and, either by manipulation or movement, assessing its properties, possibilities and content, such as stacking bricks

National occupational standards for supporting teaching and learning in schools

Fantasy play	play which rearranges the world in the child's way, a way which is unlikely to occur, eg. playing at being a pilot flying around the world or the owner of an expensive car
Hazard	something that may cause harm to the health, safety and welfare of users of the play setting, eg. broken glass, faulty play equipment, doors being left open that should be closed
Imaginative play	play where the conventional rules which govern the physical world do not apply, eg. imagining you are, or pretending to be, a tree or ship, or patting a dog which is not there
Locomotor play	movement in any and every direction for its own sake, eg. chase, tag, hide and seek, tree climbing
Mastery play	control of the physical and affective ingredients of the environments, eg. digging holes, changing the course of streams, constructing shelters, building fires
Object play	play which uses infinite and interesting sequences of hand-eye manipulations and movements, such as examination and novel use of any object, eg. cloth, paintbrush, cup
Permanent	something that lasts, or is intended to last, for a long time
Play	play is freely chosen, personally directed and intrinsically motivated
Play cues*	facial expressions, language or body language that communicate the child or young person's wish to play or invite others to play
Play cycle*	the full flow of play from the first play cue from the child, its return from the outside world, the child's response to the return and the further development of play to the point where play is complete
Play frame*	a material or non-material boundary that keeps the play intact
Play needs	the individual needs of children to play
Play space	any area that supports and enriches the potential for children to play
Risk	the likelihood of a hazard actually causing harm; this will often be influenced by the age or stage of development of the children and young people involved

National occupational standards for supporting teaching and learning in schools

Role play	play exploring ways of being, although not normally of an intense personal, social, domestic or interpersonal nature, eg. brushing with a broom, dialling with a telephone, driving a car
Rough and tumble play	close-encounter play which is less to do with fighting and more to do with touching, tickling, gauging relative strength, discovering physical flexibility and the exhilaration of display, eg. playful fighting, wrestling and chasing where the children involved are obviously unhurt and give every indication that they are enjoying themselves
Social play	play during which the rules and criteria for social engagement and interaction can be revealed, explored and amended, eg. any social or interactive situation which contains an expectation on all parties that they will abide by the rules or protocols, ie. games, conversations, making something together
Socio-dramatic play	the enactment of real and potential experiences of an intense personal, social, domestic or interpersonal nature, eg. playing at house, going to the shops, being mothers and fathers, organising a meal or even having a row
Symbolic play	play which allows control, gradual exploration and increased understanding, without the risk of being out of one's depth, eg. using a piece of wood to symbolise a person, or a piece of string to symbolise a wedding ring
Transient	not permanent
