Purpose of Study

English has a pre-eminent place in education and in society. It is a subject in its own right and the medium for teaching; for pupils, understanding language provides access to the whole curriculum. Through being taught to write and speak fluently, pupils learn to communicate their ideas and emotions to others; through their reading and listening, others can communicate with them. Through reading in particular, pupils have a chance to develop culturally, emotionally, spiritually and socially. Literature, especially, plays a key role in such development. All the skills of language are essential to participating fully as a member of society; pupils, therefore, who do not learn to read and write fluently and confidently are, in every sense, disenfranchised.

Aims

The overarching aim for English in the National Curriculum is to promote high standards of literacy by equipping pupils with a strong command of the written and spoken word, and develop a love of literature through widespread reading for enjoyment. The National Curriculum for English aims to ensure all pupils:

- read easily, fluently and with good understanding
- develop the habit of reading widely and often for both pleasure and information
- acquire a wide vocabulary, an understanding of grammar and knowledge of linguistic conventions for reading, writing and spoken language
- appreciate our rich and varied literary heritage
- write clearly, accurately and coherently, adapting their language and style in and for a range of contexts, purposes and audiences
- use discussion in order to learn; they should be able to elaborate and explain clearly their understanding and ideas
- are competent in the arts of speaking and listening, making formal presentations, demonstrating to others and participating in debate.

Reading

The Programmes of Study for reading consist of two dimensions:

- Word reading
- Comprehension (both listening and reading)

It is essential that teaching focuses on developing pupils' competence in both dimensions; different kinds of teaching are needed for each.

Skilled word reading involves both the speedy working out of the pronunciation of unfamiliar printed words (decoding) and the speedy recognition of familiar printed words. Underpinning both is the understanding that the letters on the page represent the sounds in spoken words. This is why phonics should be emphasised in the early teaching of reading to beginners (i.e. unskilled readers) when they start school.

Good comprehension draws from linguistic knowledge (in particular of vocabulary and grammar) and on knowledge of the world. Comprehension skills develop through pupils' experience of high-quality conversation with the teacher, as well as from reading and discussing a range of stories, poems and non-fiction. All pupils must be encouraged to read widely across both fiction and non-fiction to develop their knowledge of themselves and the world in which they live, and to establish an appreciation and love of reading. Reading widely and often increases pupils' understanding and vocabulary because they encounter words they would rarely hear or use in everyday speech. It also opens up a treasure-house of wonder and joy for curious young minds.

It is essential that, by the end of their primary education, all pupils are able to read fluently, and with confidence, in any subject in their forthcoming secondary education.

Writing

The Programmes of Study for writing are constructed similarly to that for reading:

- Transcription (spelling and handwriting)
- Composition (articulating ideas and structuring them in speech and writing)

It is essential that teaching develops pupils' competence in these dimensions, that is, transcription and composition. In addition, pupils should be taught how to plan, revise and evaluate their writing – knowledge that is not required for reading. These aspects of writing have been incorporated into the Programmes of Study for composition.

Writing down ideas fluently depends on effective transcription, that is, on spelling quickly and accurately through knowing the relationship between sounds and letters (phonics) and understanding the morphological (word structure) and orthographic (spelling structure) patterns of words. Writing also depends on fluent, legible and, eventually, speedy handwriting. Effective composition involves articulating and communicating ideas, and then organising them coherently for a reader. This requires clarity, awareness of the audience, purpose and context, and an increasingly wide knowledge of vocabulary and grammar.

Spoken language

The National Curriculum for English reflects the importance of spoken language in pupils' development – linguistic, cognitive and social – across the whole curriculum. Teachers should ensure the continual development of pupils' confidence and competence in spoken language. The quality and variety of language that pupils hear and speak are key factors in developing their vocabulary, grammar and understanding for reading and writing. Pupils should develop a capacity to explain their understanding of books and poems, and to prepare their ideas prior to writing. They must be assisted in making their thinking clear to themselves as well as to others and teachers should ensure pupils build secure foundations by using discussion to probe and remedy their misconceptions. Pupils should also be taught to understand and use the conventions for discussion and debate.

Spelling, grammar and glossary

The two appendices – on spelling and on grammar and punctuation – give an overview of the specific features that should be included in teaching the Programmes of Study. Pupils should be taught to control their speaking and writing consciously and to use the elements of spelling, grammar, and ‘language about language’ listed. This guidance is not intended to constrain or restrict teachers’ creativity, simply to provide the structure on which they can construct exciting lessons. A glossary is provided for teachers.

Throughout the Programmes of Study, teachers should teach pupils the vocabulary they need to discuss their reading, writing and spoken language. It is important that pupils learn the correct grammatical terms in English and that these terms are integrated within teaching.

School curriculum

Each Programme of Study is set out year-by-year for Key Stage 1 and two-yearly for Key Stage 2 in English. The single blocks at Key Stage 1 reflect the rapid pace of development during these two years. All maintained schools are only required to teach the Programme of Study by the end of each key stage. Within each key stage, maintained schools therefore have the flexibility to introduce content earlier or later than set out in the Programme of Study. In addition, schools can introduce key stage content during an earlier key stage if appropriate. All schools are also required to set out their school curriculum for English on a yearly basis and make this available online.

Inclusion

Teachers should set high expectations for all pupils and should also be aware of the requirements of the equal opportunities legislation that covers gender, race and disability. A minority of pupils will have particular requirements that arise as a consequence of Special Educational Needs, disability or learning English as an additional language. Teachers must take account of these requirements and make provision, where necessary, to support this diverse group of pupils. During end of key stage assessments, teachers should bear in mind that special arrangements are available to support individual pupils.

Attainment targets

By the end of each key stage, pupils are expected to have the knowledge, skills and understanding of the matters taught in the relevant Programme of Study.

English Programme of Study: Key Stage 1 – Year 1

During Year 1 teachers should build on work from the Foundation Stage, making sure that pupils can sound and blend unfamiliar printed words quickly and accurately using the phonic knowledge and skills that they have already learnt. Teachers should also ensure that pupils continue to learn new grapheme-phoneme correspondences (GPCs) and revise and consolidate those learnt earlier. The understanding that the letter/s on the page represent the sounds in spoken words should underpin pupils' reading and spelling of all words. This includes common words containing unusual GPCs. The term 'common exception words' is used throughout the Programmes of Study to show such words.

Pupils should be helped to read words without overt sounding and blending after a few encounters. Those who are slow to develop this skill should have extra practice.

Pupils' writing during Year 1 will generally develop at a slower pace than their reading. This is because they need to encode the sounds they hear in words (spelling skills), develop the physical skill needed for handwriting, and learn how to organise their ideas in writing.

Pupils entering Year 1 who have not yet met the early learning goals for literacy should continue to follow the curriculum for the Early Years Foundation Stage to develop their word reading, spelling and language skills. However, these pupils should follow the Year 1 Programme of Study in terms of the books they listen to and discuss so that they develop their vocabulary and understanding of grammar. If they are still struggling to decode and spell, they need to be taught to do this urgently through a rigorous and systematic phonics programme so that they catch up rapidly.

Teachers should ensure that their teaching develops pupils' oral vocabulary as well as their ability to understand and use a variety of grammatical structures, giving particular support to pupils whose oral language skills are insufficiently developed.

Specific requirements for pupils to discuss what they are learning and to develop their wider skills in spoken language form part of this Programme of Study.

Year 1 Programme of Study	Notes and Guidance
READING Word Reading Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• respond speedily with the correct sound to graphemes (letters or groups of letters) for all 40+ phonemes, including, where applicable, alternative sounds for graphemes [1]</li> <li>• read accurately by blending sounds in unfamiliar words containing GPCs that have been taught [2]</li> <li>• read words containing taught GPCs and ‘s’, ‘es’, ‘ing’, ‘ed’, ‘er’ and ‘est’ endings [3]</li> <li>• read other words of more than one syllable that contain taught GPCs [4]</li> <li>• read words quickly and accurately when they have been frequently encountered without overt sounding and blending [5]</li> <li>• read words with contractions, e.g. I’m, I’ll, we’ll, and understand that the apostrophe represents the omitted letter(s) [6]</li> <li>• read aloud accurately books which closely match their growing word-reading knowledge [7]</li> <li>• re-read books to build up their fluency and confidence in word reading. [8]</li> </ul>	READING Word reading Ensure that pupils revise and consolidate the GPCs taught in Reception. As soon as they can read words comprising the Year 1 GPCs accurately and speedily, move on to the Year 2 Programme of Study for word reading. [9] Young readers encounter words that they have not seen before much more frequently than experienced readers do, and they may not know the meaning of some of these. Practice at reading such words by sounding and blending can provide opportunities not only for pupils to develop confidence in their decoding skills but also for teachers to explain the meaning and thus develop pupils’ vocabulary. [10] Ensure that pupils practise their reading with books that are consistent with their developing phonic knowledge and that do not require them to use other strategies to work out words. [11] Also ensure that pupils are taught how to read words with suffixes by helping them to build on the root words they can read already. [12] The number, order and choice of exception words taught will vary according to the phonics programme being used. Ensuring that pupils are aware of the GPCs they contain, however unusual these are, supports spelling later. [13]
Comprehension Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• understand the books they can already read accurately and fluently by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. drawing on what they already know or on background information and vocabulary provided by the teacher</li> <li>b. checking that the book makes sense to them as they read and correcting inaccurate reading</li> <li>c. discussing events in the book</li> <li>d. inferring what characters might be like from what they say and do</li> <li>e. predicting what might happen on the basis of what has been read so far [14]</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	Comprehension Fluent word reading greatly assists pupils’ comprehension, especially when they need to read longer books. [18] Pupils’ vocabulary can be improved when they listen to books read aloud and when they discuss what they have heard. Such vocabulary can also feed into their writing. Knowing the meaning of more words increases pupils’ chances of understanding when they read by themselves. Ensure that pupils are introduced to the meaning of some new words before they start to read a book on their own so that these unknown words do not hold up their comprehension. [19]

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• develop pleasure in reading and motivation to read by:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. listening to and discussing a wide range of poems and stories at a level beyond that which they can read independently</li> <li>b. being encouraged to link what they read or hear read to their own experiences</li> <li>c. becoming very familiar with key stories, fairy stories and traditional tales</li> <li>d. recognising and joining in with predictable phrases</li> <li>e. learning by heart and reciting rhymes and poems [15]</li> </ul> </li> <li>• participate in discussion about a story that is read to them, taking turns and listening to what others say [16]</li> <li>• explain clearly their understanding of a story that is read to them. [17]</li> </ul>	By listening frequently to stories, poems and other books that they cannot yet read for themselves, pupils start to learn how language sounds and increase their vocabulary and awareness of grammatical structures. In due course, they will be able to draw on such grammar in their own writing. [20] Ensure that discussion is demonstrated to pupils, that they are guided to participate in it and that they are helped to consider the opinions of others. [21] Role-play can help pupils to identify with and explore characters and to try out the language they have listened to. [22]
WRITING Transcription Spelling Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• spell:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. words containing each of the 40+ phonemes already taught</li> <li>b. common exception words, e.g. the, said, one, two</li> <li>c. the days of the week [23]</li> </ul> </li> <li>• name the letters of the alphabet:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. naming the letters of the alphabet in order</li> <li>b. using letter names to distinguish between alternative spellings of the same sound [24]</li> </ul> </li> <li>• add prefixes and suffixes:               <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. using the spelling rule for adding 's' or 'es' as the plural marker for nouns and the third person singular marker for verbs</li> <li>b. using the prefix un</li> <li>c. using -ing, -ed, -er and -est where no change is needed in the spelling of root words (e.g. helping, helped, helper, eating, quicker, quickest) [25]</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	WRITING Transcription Spelling Ensure that spelling is taught alongside reading, so that pupils understand that they can read back words they have spelt. Make sure that pupils understand and apply the concepts of word structure (see Appendix 2). [33] Show pupils how to segment words into individual phonemes and then to represent the phonemes by the appropriate grapheme(s). It is important to recognise that phoneme-grapheme correspondences (which underpin spelling) are more variable than GPCs (which underpin reading). For this reason, pupils need to do much more word-specific rehearsal for spelling than for reading. [34] Writing simple dictated sentences that include words taught so far gives pupils opportunities to apply and practise their spelling knowledge. [35] At this stage pupils will be spelling some words in a phonically plausible way. Correct any misspellings of words that pupils have been taught; for other misspelt words, use them as an opportunity to teach pupils about alternative ways of representing those sounds. [36]

DRAFT

English Programme of Study: Key Stage 1 – Year 2

By the beginning of Year 2, pupils should be able to read all common graphemes. They should be able to read unfamiliar words containing these graphemes, accurately and without undue hesitation, by sounding them out in books that are matched closely to each pupil's level of word reading. They should also be able to read many common words containing GPCs taught so far, such as shout, hand, stop, or dream, without needing to blend the sounds out loud first of all. Pupils' reading of common exception words, such as you, could, many, or people, should be secure. Pupils increase their fluency by being able to read these words easily and automatically. Finally, pupils should be able to retell some familiar stories that have been read to and discussed with them during Year 1.

During Year 2, teachers should continue to focus on establishing pupils' accurate and speedy word-reading skills. They should also make sure that pupils listen to and discuss a wide range of stories, poems and information books, including whole books. The sooner that pupils can read well and do so frequently, the sooner they will be able to increase their vocabulary and comprehension.

In writing, pupils at the beginning of Year 2 should be able to compose individual sentences verbally and then write them down. They should be able to spell correctly many of the words covered in Year 1 (Appendix 1). They should also be able to make phonically plausible attempts to spell words they have not yet learnt. Finally, they should be able to form individual letters correctly, establishing good handwriting habits from the beginning.

It is important to recognise that pupils begin to meet extra challenges in terms of spelling during Year 2. Increasingly, they learn that there is not always an obvious connection between the way a word is said and the way it is spelt. Variations include different ways of spelling the same sound, the use of silent letters and groups of letters in some words and, sometimes, spelling that has become separated from the way that words are now pronounced, such as the /le/ ending in table. Pupils' motor skills also need to be sufficiently advanced for them to write down ideas that they may be able to compose verbally. In addition, writing is intrinsically harder than reading: pupils are likely to be able to read and understand more complex writing (in terms of its vocabulary and structure) than they are capable of producing themselves.

For pupils who do not have the phonic knowledge and skills they need for Year 2, teachers should use the Year 1 Programmes of Study for word reading and spelling so that pupils' word-reading skills catch up. However, teachers should use the Year 2 Programme of Study for comprehension so that these pupils hear and talk about new books, poems, other writing, and vocabulary with the rest of the class.

Specific requirements for pupils to discuss what they are learning and to develop their wider skills in spoken language form part of this Programme of Study.

As soon as they can read words comprising the Year 2 GPCs accurately and speedily, move on to the Years 3 and 4 Programme of Study for word reading. [54] When teaching pupils how to read longer words, show pupils syllable boundaries and how to read each syllable separately before they combine them to read the word. [55] Ensure that pupils are taught how to read suffixes by helping them to build on the root words that they have already learnt. Teach the whole suffix as well as the letters that make it up. [56] Ensure that pupils who are still at the early stages of learning to read have ample practice in reading books that are closely matched to their word-reading level. [57] Pupils who can read words quickly without sounding and blending overtly are well on the way to being able to read silently. [58]
Comprehension Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• understand the books they can already read accurately and fluently by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. drawing on what they already know or on background information and vocabulary provided by the teacher</li> <li>b. checking that the book makes sense to them as they read and correcting inaccurate reading</li> </ul> </li> <li>and in stories by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>c. inferring what characters might be like from what they say and do</li> <li>d. answering and asking questions such as: ‘who did what to whom?’, ‘when?’, ‘how?’ and ‘why?’</li> <li>e. predicting what might happen on the basis of what has been read so far</li> </ul> </li> </ul>	Comprehension Encourage pupils to read all the words in a sentence and ensure that they do this accurately, so that their understanding of what they read is not hindered by imprecise decoding, e.g. reading ‘place’ instead of ‘palace’. [63] Introduce pupils to the meaning of new words within the context of what they are reading or about to read so that they are supported in learning new vocabulary and understanding what they are reading. ‘Thinking out loud’ when reading to pupils may help them to understand what skilled readers do. (Pupils do not need to be taught the terms 'grapheme' and 'phoneme'.) Pupils should do this both for single-syllable and multi-syllabic words. [76] At this stage pupils will still be spelling some words in a phonically plausible way. Correct any misspellings of words that pupils have been taught; for other misspelt words, use them as an opportunity to teach pupils about alternative ways of representing sounds. [77] Ensure that pupils are encouraged to apply their knowledge of suffixes from their word reading to their spelling. Also ensure that they draw from and apply their growing knowledge of word and spelling structure as well as their knowledge of the origin of words (roots). [78]

English Programme of Study: Lower Key Stage 2 – Years 3–4

By the beginning of Year 3, pupils should be able to read books written at an age-appropriate interest level. They should be able to read them accurately and at a speed that is sufficient for them to focus on understanding what they read rather than on decoding individual words. They should be able to decode most new words outside their spoken vocabulary, making a good approximation to the word's pronunciation. As their decoding skills become increasingly secure, teaching should be directed more towards developing the breadth and depth of their reading, making sure that they become independent, fluent and enthusiastic readers who read widely and frequently. They should be developing their understanding and enjoyment of stories and poetry and learning to read silently to themselves. They should also be developing their knowledge and skills in reading non-fiction books about science, history, and geography.

Pupils should be able to write down their ideas with a reasonable degree of accuracy by this stage and with good sentence punctuation. Teachers therefore should be consolidating pupils' writing skills, their grasp of sentence structure and their knowledge of linguistic terminology. Teachers should ensure that pupils build on what they have learnt, particularly in terms of the range of their writing and the more varied grammar that they can draw from to express their ideas. Pupils should be beginning to understand how writing is different from speech in terms of grammar. Joined handwriting should be the norm; pupils should be able to use it sufficiently speedily for it not to slow them down.

Pupils' spelling of common words should be correct, including exception words and other words that they have learnt (see Appendix 1). Pupils should spell words as accurately as possible using their phonic knowledge and other knowledge of spelling, such as morphology.

Most pupils will not need further direct teaching of word-reading skills: they are able to decode unfamiliar words accurately, and need very few repeated experiences of this before the word is stored in such a way that they can read it without overt sound-blending.

As in Key Stage 1, however, pupils who are still struggling to decode need to be taught to do this urgently through a rigorous and systematic phonics programme so that they catch up rapidly with their peers. If they cannot decode independently and fluently, they will find it increasingly difficult to understand what they read and to write down what they need to say. As far as possible, however, they should follow the Year 3 and 4 Programme of Study in terms of listening to new books, hearing and learning new vocabulary and grammatical structures, and discussing these.

Specific requirements for pupils to discuss what they are learning and to develop their wider skills in spoken language form part of this Programme of Study. In Years 3 and 4, pupils should become more familiar and confident with using language in a greater variety of situations including through formal presentations and debate.

READING Word reading Pupils should be taught to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• read accurately new words of two or more syllables that they encounter in the books they read [90]</li> <li>• read further exception words, noting the unusual correspondences between spelling and sound, and where these occur in the word. [91]</li> </ul>	READING Word reading At this stage, teaching comprehension should be taking precedence over teaching word reading directly. Any focus on word reading should support the development of vocabulary. [92] Ensure that when teaching pupils to read longer words, they are supported to test out different pronunciations. They will attempt to match what they decode to words they may have already heard but may not have seen in print: e.g. in reading technical, the pronunciation /tetchnical/ might not sound familiar, but /teknical/ should. [93]

It also provides them with the incentive to find out what the language means and what expression is required, so feeding into comprehension. ## English Programme of Study: Upper Key Stage 2 – Years 5–6

By the beginning of Year 5, pupils should be able to read aloud a wider range of poetry and books written at an age-appropriate interest level with accuracy and at a reasonable speaking pace. They should be able to read most words effortlessly and should be able to work out how to pronounce unfamiliar written words with increasing automaticity. If the pronunciation sounds unfamiliar, they should ask for help in determining both the meaning of the word and how to pronounce it correctly. They should be able to prepare readings, with appropriate intonation to show their understanding, and should be able to summarise a familiar story in their own words. They should be reading widely and frequently, outside as well as in school, for pleasure and information. They should be able to read silently, and then discuss what they have read.

Pupils should be able to write down their ideas quickly. Their grammar and punctuation should be broadly accurate. Pupils' spelling of most words taught so far should be accurate and they should be able to spell words that they have not yet been taught by using what they have learnt about how spelling works in English.

During Years 5 and 6, teachers should continue to emphasise pupils' enjoyment and understanding of language, especially vocabulary, to support their reading and writing. Pupils' knowledge of language, gained from stories, plays, poetry, non-fiction and textbooks, will support their increasing fluency as readers, their facility as writers, and their comprehension.

It is essential that pupils whose decoding skills are poor are taught through a rigorous and systematic phonics programme so that they catch up rapidly in terms of their decoding and spelling. However, as far as possible, these pupils should follow the Year 5 and 6 Programme of Study in terms of listening to books and other writing that they have not heard before, hearing and learning new vocabulary and grammatical structures, and having a chance to talk about all of these.

By the end of Year 6, pupils' reading and writing should be sufficiently fluent and effortless for them to manage the general demands of the curriculum in Year 7, across subjects and not just in English, but there will continue to be a need for pupils to learn subject-specific vocabulary. They should be able to reflect their understanding of the audience for and purpose of their writing in selecting appropriate vocabulary and grammar. Teachers should prepare pupils for secondary education by ensuring that pupils can consciously control the structure of sentences in their writing and understand why sentences are constructed as they are. This involves consolidation, practice and discussion of language.

Specific requirements for pupils to discuss what they are learning and to develop their wider skills in spoken language form part of this Programme of Study. In Years 5 and 6, pupils' confidence, enjoyment and mastery of language should be extended through their experiences of public speaking and debate.

Appendix 1: Spelling

Most people are more accurate at reading words than they are at spelling them. For pupils, the younger they are, the truer this is.

By the end of Year 1, pupils should be able to read a large number of different words containing the GPCs they have learnt, whether or not they have seen these words before. Spelling, however, is a very different matter. Once pupils have learnt more than one way of spelling particular sounds, making the right choice of letter or letters depends on their either having made a conscious effort to learn the words or having absorbed them less consciously through their reading. Younger pupils have not had enough time to learn or absorb the accurate spelling of all the words they may want to write.

The lists in this appendix provide examples of words that embody each pattern which is taught, together with a number of other words, some of which embody unusual GPCs. Some pupils will already be able to spell many more words than are listed and will learn new words and general principles effortlessly; others will learn much more slowly. Teachers should allow plenty of time for revision and repetition, particularly for pupils who find spelling difficult. Once certain patterns, rules and guidelines have been taught, teachers should refer to them when they correct spelling mistakes and help pupils to remember them.

Phonic knowledge should continue to underpin spelling after Key Stage 1 but, increasingly, pupils also need to understand the role of morphology and etymology and that some words need to be learnt specifically.

The rules and guidelines are intended to help the process of learning how to spell. Although many root words simply have to be learnt, teachers can help pupils to understand relationships between meaning and spelling where these are relevant. For example, seeing the relationship between medical and medicine may help pupils to spell the /s/ sound in medicine with the letter 'c'. Pupils can also be helped to spell words with prefixes and suffixes correctly if they understand some general principles for adding them.

Words ending 'nk'	The /ng/ sound is spelt as n before k	bank, pink, think, honk, chunk
Words ending 'ff', 'll', 'ss', 'zz', 'ck'	The /f/, /l/, /s/ and /z/ sounds are usually spelt as ff , ll , ss and zz straight after the /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/ and /u/ sounds in short words. Exceptions: if, pal, us, bus, yes	off, bell, kiss, buzz, back,
Words of more than one syllable	Each syllable is like a 'beat' in the word.	pocket, rabbit, thunder, panda, picnic

New work for Year 1 [158]
	Rules/guidelines	Example words
Tch	If the /ch/ sound comes straight after a vowel sound spelt with a single vowel letter, it is usually spelt as tch . Exceptions: rich, which, much, such	catch, fetch, kitchen, notch, hutch
The /v/ sound at the end of words	English words hardly ever end with the letter v , so if a word ends with a /v/ sound, the letter e usually needs to be added after the 'v'.	have, live, give
Adding s and es to words (plural of nouns and the third person singular of verbs)	If the ending sounds like /s/ or /z/, it is spelt as -s . If the ending sounds like /iz/ and forms an extra syllable or 'beat' in the word, it is spelt as -es .	cats, dogs, spends, rocks, thanks, catches
Adding the endings -ing, -ed and -er to verbs where no change is needed to the root word	-ing and -er always add an extra syllable to the word and -ed sometimes does. The past tense of some verbs may sound as if it ends in /id/ (extra syllable), /d/ or /t/ (no extra syllable), but all these endings are spelt -ed If the verb ends in two consonants (the same or different), the ending is simply added on.	hunting, hunted, hunter, buzzing, buzzed, buzzer, jumping, jumped, jumper
Adding -er and -est to adjectives where no change is needed to the root word	As with verbs (see above), if the adjective ends in two consonants (the same or different), the ending is simply added on.	grander, grandest, fresher, freshest, quicker, quickest

Words ending –y (/ee/ or /i/ depending on accent):		very, happy, sorry, carry, party
New consonant spellings ph and wh	The /f/ sound is not usually spelt as ph in short everyday words (e.g. fat, fill, fun ).	dolphin, alphabet, phonics, elephant when, where, which, wheel, whisk
Using k for the /k/ sound	The /k/ sound is spelt as k rather than as c before e, i and y .	Kent, sketch, skeleton, kit, skip, husky
Adding the prefix –un	The prefix un– is added to the beginning of a word without any change to the spelling of the root word.	unhappy, undo, unload, unfair, unlock
Compound Words	Compound words are two words joined together. Each part of the longer word is spelt as it would be if it were on its own.	football, laptop, playground, farmyard, bedroom, blackberry
Common exception words		the, a, do, to, of, said, says, are, were, was, I, you, your, they, be, he, me, she, we, no, go, so, by, my, there, love, come, some, one, once – and/or others according to programme used.

Year 2

Revision of work from Year 1	As words with new GPCs are introduced, many previously taught GPCs can be revised at the same time as these words will usually contain them.
New work for Year 2 [159]
	Rules and guidelines	Example words
The /j/ sound spelt as ge and dge at the end of words, and sometimes spelt as g elsewhere in words before e, i and y	The letter j is never used for the /j/ sound at the end of English words. At the end of a word, the /j/ sound is spelt -dge straight after the /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/ and /u/ sounds ('short' vowels). After all other sounds, whether vowels or consonants, the /j/ sound is spelt as -ge at the end of a word. In other positions in words, the /j/ sound is often (but not always) spelt as g before e, i, and y . The /j/ sound is always spelt as j before a, o and u .	badge, ledge, bridge, dodge, fudge  age, huge, orange, charge, bulge, village  gem, giant, ginger, giraffe, energy
The /s/ sound spelt c before e, i and y		race, prince, cell, city, fancy
The /n/ sound spelt kn and (less often) gn at the beginning of words	The 'k' and 'g' at the beginning of these words was sounded hundreds of years ago.	knot, know, knee, knife, gnat, gnaw,
The /r/ sound spelt wr at the beginning of words	This spelling probably also reflects an old pronunciation.	write, written, wrote, wrong, wrap, wreck
The /l/ or schwa-/l/ sound spelt -le at the end of words	The -le spelling is the most common spelling for this sound at the end of words.	table, apple, handle, bottle, tickle, middle
The /l/ or schwa-/l/ sound spelt el at the end of words	The -el spelling is much less common than -le . The -el spelling is used after m, n, r, s, v, w	camel, tunnel, squirrel, tinsel, travel, towel
The /l/ or schwa-/l/ sound spelt al at the end of words	Not many nouns end in al , but many adjectives do.	metal, pedal, capital, hospital, animal, tropical,
Words ending -il	There are not many of these words	pencil, fossil, nostril
The /igh/ sound spelt y at the end of words	This is by far the most common spelling for this sound at the end of words.	cry, fly, fry, try, reply, July
Adding -es to nouns and verbs ending in consonant -y	The y is changed to i before -es is added.	cries, flies, replies, copies, babies, carries
Adding -ed, -ing, -er and -est to root words ending in consonant-y	The y is changed to i before -ed, -er and -est are added, but not before -ing as this would result in ii . The only ordinary words with ii are skiing and taxiing .	copied, copier, happier, happiest, cried, replied ... but copying, crying, replying
Adding the endings -ing, -ed, -er, -est and -y to words ending in vowel-consonant-e	The -e at the end of the root word is dropped before -ing, -ed, -er, -est, -y or any other suffix beginning with a vowel is added.	hiking, hiked, hiker, nicer, nicest, shiny

Adding –ing, –ed, –er, –est and –y to words of one syllable ending in a single consonant letter after a single vowel letter	The last consonant of the root word is doubled to keep the /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/, /u/ sound (i.e. to keep the vowel 'short'). Exception: The letter 'x' is never doubled: mixing, mixed, boxer, sixes ,	patting, patted, humming, hummed, tapping, tapped, fatter, fattest, runner, runny
The /aw/ sound spelt a before l and ll	The /aw/ sound is usually spelt as a before l and ll .	all, ball, call, walk, talk, always,
The /u/ sound spelt o		other, mother, brother, nothing, Monday, wonder
The /ee/ sound spelt ey	The plural of these words is formed by the addition of –s ( donkeys, monkeys etc.).	key, donkey, monkey, chimney, honey
The /o/ sound spelt a after w and qu	a is the most common spelling for the /o/ sound after w and qu .	want, wash, wander, watch, quantity, squash,
The /ur/ sound spelt or after w	There are very few of these words	word, work, worm, world
The /aw/ sound spelt ar after w	There are very few of these words.	war, warm, towards
The /zh/ sound spelt s		television, treasure, usual
The suffixes –ment, –ness, –ful and –less	If a suffix starts with a consonant, it is added straight on to most root words without any change to the last letter of those words. Exceptions: (1) argument (2) root words ending in a consonant followed by y – see above	enjoyment, sadness joyful, playful, hopeless, plainness (plain + ness)
Contractions	In contractions, the apostrophe shows where a letter or letters would be if the words were written in full (e.g. can't – cannot ). It's means it is (e.g. It's raining) or sometimes it has (e.g. It's been raining), but it's is never used for the possessive.	can't, didn't, hasn't, couldn't, it's, who's
The possessive apostrophe (singular nouns)		Megan's, Ravi's, the girl's, the child's, the man's
Words ending in –tion		station, fiction, motion, national, section
Homophones and near-homophones	It is important to know the difference in meaning between homophones.	There/their/they're, here/hear, quite/quiet, see/sea, bare/bear, one/won, to/too/two, be/bee, blue/blew, cheap/cheep, night/knight
Common exception words	Some words are exceptions in some accents but not in others – e.g. past, last, fast, path and bath are not exceptions in accents where the a in these words is pronounced as in cat . Great, break and steak are the only common words where the /ai/ sound is spelt ea .	door, floor, poor, find, kind, find, behind, wild, most, every, laugh, aunt, autumn, great, break, steak, push, pull, pretty, beautiful, hour, shoes, buy, sure, fast, past, path, bath, eye, climb, thumb, castle, listen, could, should, would – and/or others according to programme used.

Years 3 and 4

Revise work from Years 1 and 2, particularly rules for adding suffixes

New work for Years 3 and 4		[160]
	Rules and guidelines	Example words
Adding suffixes beginning with vowels to words of more than one syllable	If the last syllable of a word is stressed and ends with one consonant which has just one vowel letter before it, the final consonant is doubled before any ending beginning with a vowel is added. The consonant is not doubled if the syllable is unstressed.	forgetting, forgotten, beginning, beginner, prefer, preferred  gardening, gardener, limiting, limited, limitation
The /i/ sound spelt y elsewhere than at the end of words	These words should be learnt as needed.	myth, gym, Egypt, pyramid, mystery
The /u/ sound spelt ou	These words should be learnt as needed.	young, cousin, double, trouble, couple, country
More prefixes	Prefixes are added to the beginning of root words without any changes in spelling. Like un- , the prefixes dis- and mis- have negative meanings.  The prefix in- can mean both 'not' and 'in'/'into'. In the words given here it means 'not'. Before a root word starting with l , in- becomes il Before a root word starting with m or p , in- becomes im- . Before a root word starting with r , in- becomes ir- . re- means 'again' or 'back'. sub- means 'under'. inter- means 'between' or 'among'.  super- means 'above'. anti- means 'against'. auto- means 'self' or 'own'.	dis-, mis-, in- disappear, disappoint, disobey misbehave, mislead, misspell (mis + spell)  inactive, incorrect  illegal, illegible immature, immortal, impossible, impatient, imperfect irregular, irrelevant, irresponsible re- : redo, refresh, return, reappear, redecorate sub- : subdivide, subheading, submarine, submerge inter- : interact, intercity, international, interrelated (inter + related) super- : supermarket, superman, superstar anti- : antiseptic, anti-clockwise, antidote auto- : automatic, autograph
The suffix -ation	The suffix -ation is added to verbs to form nouns. The rules already learnt still apply.	information, adoration, sensation, preparation, admiration
The suffix -ly	The suffix -ly is added to an adjective to form an adverb. The rules already learnt still apply:  The -ly suffix starts with a consonant, so it is added straight on to most root words unless they end with y . If the root word ends with y , the y is changed to i . Exceptions:	sadly, completely, usually (usual + ly), comically (comical + ly)    happily, angrily,

	1. If the root word ends with -le, the -le is changed to -ly. 2. If the root word ends with -ic, -ally is added rather than just -ly, except in the word publicly. 3. The words truly, duly, wholly,	gently, simply, humbly, nobly basically, frantically, dramatically
Words with endings sounding like /zhuh/ or /chuh/	The ending sounding like /zhuh/ is always spelt -sure. The ending sounding like /chuh/ is often spelt -ture, but check that the word is not a root word ending in (t)ch with an er ending – e.g. teacher, catcher, richer, stretcher.	measure, treasure, pleasure, enclosure picture, adventure, creature, furniture, departure, mixture
Endings which sound like /zhun/	If the ending sounds like /zhun/, it is spelt as -sion	division, invasion, confusion, decision, collision, television
The suffix -ous	Sometimes the root word is obvious and the usual rules apply for adding suffixes beginning with vowels. Sometimes there is no obvious root word. -our is changed to -or before -ous is added. A final 'e' must be kept if the /j/ sound of 'g' is to be kept. If there is an /i/ sound before the -ous ending, it is usually spelt as i, but a few words have e (e.g. spontaneous, hideous, piteous)	poisonous, dangerous, mountainous, nervous, famous, various, tremendous, enormous, obvious, pompous, previous, ravenous humorous, glamorous, vigorous courageous, outrageous  serious, previous, obvious, furious, envious
Endings which sound like /shun/, spelt -tion, -sion, -ssion, -cian	Strictly speaking, the endings are -ion and -ian. Clues about whether to put t, s, ss or c before these endings often come from the last letter or letters of the root word. -tion is the most common spelling. It is used if the root word ends in t (invent) or te (inflate). -ssion is used if the root word ends in ss (express) or -mit (permit). -sion is used if the root word ends in d or se (Exceptions: attend – attention; intend – intention) -cian is used if the root word ends in c or cs (e.g. music – musician, politics – politician).	invention, inflation, injection, action, completion, exception  expression, discussion, confession, permission, transmission, admission expansion, extension, comprehension, tension  musician, electrician, politician, magician, mathematician
Words with the /k/ sound spelt ch (Greek in origin)		school, chorus, chemist, Christmas, character, anchor
Words with the /sh/ sound spelt ch (mostly French in origin)		chef, chalet, machine, brochure, champagne, chauffeur
Words ending with the /g/ sound spelt -gue and the /k/ sound spelt -que (French in origin)		league, tongue, synagogue, antique, unique, mosque
Words with the /s/ sound spelt sc (Latin in origin)	The Romans probably pronounced the sc in the Latin words from which these words come as /sk/, so mentally pronouncing these words that	science, scene, scissors, muscle, disciple, fascinate way may help with spelling – e.g. the pronunciation / skene / can be used when learning to spell scene .

Words with the /ai/ sound spelt ei, eigh, or ey		vein, weigh, eight, neighbour, they, obey
Possessive apostrophe with plural words	The apostrophe is placed after the plural form of the word; – s is not added if the plural already ends in s , but is added if the plural does not end in s (i.e. is an irregular plural – e.g. children's ).	girls', boys', babies', children's, men's, mice's (Note: singular proper nouns ending in an 's' use the 's' notation e.g. Cyprus's population)
Homophones or near-homophones		accept/except, affect/effect, ball/bawl, berry/bury, brake/break, fair/fare, grate/great, groan/grown, here/hear, heel/heal/he'll, knot/not, mail/male, main/mane, meat/meet, medal/meddle, missed/mist, peace/piece, plain/plane, rain/rein, scene/seen
Words to be learnt accident, advertise, approve, benefit, behave, bicycle, breath, breathe, building, calendar, certain, concentrate, chocolate, congratulate, conscience, continue, decorate, describe, dictionary, difficult, discover, disturb, early, earn, earth, educate, excite, experience, experiment, explore, extreme, February, grammar, guide, guard, half, heart, immediate, improve, increase, independent, injure, inquire, interest, island, junior, knowledge, library, material, medicine, mention, multiply, murmur, nephew, occasion, often, opposite, paragraph, particular, peculiar, position, possess, produce, professor, promise, property, prove, punctuate, quality, quantity, quarrel, quarter, recite, recover, register, regular, reign, remember, sentence, separate, sew, situate, strength, sufficient, sure, surprise, surround, thought, through, though, weary	Many root words need to be learnt, but once they are learnt, and the rules and guidelines for adding prefixes and suffixes are known, many long words can be spelt correctly. Understanding relationships between words can help with spelling. A few examples: conscience is related to science – both come from the Latin word meaning 'to know'. bicycle is cycle (from the Greek for wheel ) with bi- (meaning two ) before it. medicine is related to medical opposite is related to oppose , so the schwa sound in opposite is spelt as o . regular sounds as if it might end in the letters -er , but the clear /a/ in the related word regularity shows that regular must end with the letters ar .
Words which are often misspelt when prefixes or suffixes are added	If these words are thought of in terms of root words and the rules for adding prefixes and suffixes are then applied, the words are less likely to be misspelt.	disappear (just add dis to appear ) disappoint (just add dis to appoint ) beginning (double the n at the end of begin to keep the short /i/ sound before it) business ( busy + ness , with the y of busy changed to i )

		according to the rule) necessary, unnecessary (just add un to necessary ); necessarily (add ly , changing the y of necessary to i according to the rule)

DRAFT

Years 5 and 6

Revise work done in previous years
New work for Years 5 and 6		[161]
	Rules and guidelines	Example words
Endings which sound like /shus/ spelt –cious or –tious	Not many common words end like this. If the root word ends in –ce, the /sh/ sound is spelt as c – e.g. vice – vicious, grace – gracious, space – spacious, malice – malicious. Exception: anxious	vicious, precious, conscious, delicious, malicious, suspicious ambitious, cautious, fictitious, infectious, nutritious
Endings which sound like /shul/	–cial is common after a vowel and –tial after a consonant, but there are some exceptions. Exceptions: initial, financial, commercial, provincial (though the spelling of the last three could be said to come from finance, commerce and province).	official, special, artificial, partial, confidential, essential
Words ending in –ant, –ance/–ancy, –ent, –ence/–ency	Use –ant and –ance/–ancy if there is a related word with a clear /a/ or /ai/ sound in the right position – –ation endings are often a clue. Use –ent and –ence/–ency after soft c (/s/ sound), soft g (/j/ sound) and qu, or if there is a related word with a clear /e/ sound in the right position. There are many words, however, where the above guidelines don't help. These words just have to be learnt.	observant, observance, (observAtion), expectant (expectAtion) hesitant, hesitancy (hesitAtion), tolerant, tolerance (tolerAtion), substance (substAntial) innocent, innocence, decent, decency, frequent, frequency, confident, confidence (confidEntial), assistant, assistance, obedient, obedience, independent, independence
Words ending in –able and –ible	The –able ending is far more common than the –ible ending. As with –ant and –ance/–ancy, the –able ending is used if there is a related word ending in –ation. If the –able ending is added to a word ending in –ce or –ge, the e after the c or g must be kept as those letters would otherwise have their 'hard' sounds (as in cap and gap) before the a of the –able ending. The –able ending is usually but not always used if a complete root word can be heard before it, even if there is no related word ending in –ation. The first six examples opposite are obvious; in reliable, the complete word rely is heard, but the y changes to i in accordance with the rule. The –ible ending is common if a complete root word can't be heard before it but it also sometimes occurs when a complete word can be	adorable (adoration), applicable (application), considerable (consideration), tolerable (toleration) changeable, noticeable, forcible, legible dependable, comfortable, understandable, reasonable, enjoyable, reliable possible, horrible, terrible, visible, incredible, sensible heard (e.g. sensible ).

Adding suffixes beginning with vowels to words ending in –fer	The r is doubled if the –fer is still stressed when the ending is added. The r is not doubled if the –fer is no longer stressed.	referring, referred, referral, preferring, preferred, transferring, transferred reference, referee, preference, transference
Use of the hyphen to link words	Hyphens can be used to join a prefix to a root word, especially if the prefix ends in a vowel and the root word also begins with one.	e.g. co-ordinate, re-iterate, pre-eminent, co-own
Words with the /ee/ sound spelt ei after c	The ‘i before e except after c’ rule applies to words where the sound spelt by ei is a clear /ee/. Exceptions: protein, caffeine, seize .	deceive, conceive, receive, perceive, ceiling (+ deceit, conceit, receipt)
Words containing the letter-string ough	ough is one of the trickiest spellings in English – it can be used to spell a number of different sounds.	ought, bought, thought, nought rough, tough, enough cough though, although, dough through thorough, borough plough
Words with ‘silent’ letters (i.e. letters which cannot be predicted from the pronunciation of the word)	Some letters which are no longer sounded used to be sounded hundreds of years ago: e.g. in knight , the k was sounded as /k/ and the gh used to represent the sound that ‘ch’ now represents in the Scottish word loch .	doubt, island, lamb, solemn, thistle, knight
Homophones and other words that are often confused	In these pairs of words, nouns end –ce and verbs end –se . Advice and advise provide a useful clue as the word advise (verb) is pronounced with a /z/ sound – which could not be spelt c .	advice/advise device/devise licence/license practice/practise prophecy/prophesy aisle: a gangway between seats (in a church, train, plane) isle: an island  aloud: out loud allowed: permitted  affect: usually a verb (e.g. ‘The weather may affect our plans.’) effect: usually a noun (e.g. ‘The weather may have an effect on our plans.’). If a verb, it means ‘bring about’ (e.g. ‘He will effect changes in the running of the business.’).  altar: a table-like piece of furniture in a church alter: to change  ascent: the act of ascending (going up) assent: to agree/agreement (verb and noun)	eligible: suitable to be chosen or elected illegible: not legible (i.e. unreadable)  eliminate: get rid of/exclude illuminate: light up  farther: further father: a male parent  guessed: past tense of the verb ‘guess’ guest: visitor  heard: past tense of the verb ‘hear’ herd: a group of animals  led: past tense of the verb ‘lead’ lead: present tense of that verb, or else the metal which is very bridal: to do with a bride at a wedding bridle: reins etc. for controlling a horse cereal: made from grain (e.g. breakfast cereal) serial: adjective from the noun 'series' – a succession of things one after the other compliment: to make nice remarks about someone (verb) or the remark that is made (noun) complement: related to the word 'complete' – to make something complete or more complete (e.g. 'Her scarf complemented her outfit.') descent: the act of descending (going down) dissent: to disagree/disagreement (verb and noun)

desert: as a noun – a barren place (stress on first syllable); as a verb – to abandon (stress on second syllable) dessert: (stress on second syllable) a sweet course after the main course of a meal disinterested: not having a personal stake in the matter (a World Cup referee must be disinterested – i.e. must not be from one of the countries playing in the match) uninterested: not interested, bored (a referee should be interested, not uninterested, in football)

Appendix 2: Grammar and punctuation

The grammar of our first language is learnt naturally and implicitly, through interactions with other speakers and from reading. Explicit knowledge of grammar is, however, very important, as it gives us more conscious control and choice in our language. Building this knowledge is best achieved through a focus on grammar within the teaching of reading, writing and speaking. Some more complex grammar rules need to be taught explicitly. In particular, young children use more complex language in speech than in writing, and teachers should build on this, aiming for a smooth transition to sophisticated writing.

The table below focuses on Standard English and should be read in conjunction with the Programme of Study. It is very important that the content in earlier years be revisited in subsequent years to consolidate knowledge and promote deeper understanding. Teachers should also go beyond the content set out here if they feel it is appropriate.

The grammatical terms that pupils should learn are set out in the final column. They should learn to recognise and use the terminology through discussion and practice. All terms in bold should be understood with the meanings set out in the glossary.

Year	Word structure	Sentence structure	Text structure	Punctuation	Terminology for pupils
1 [163]	Regular plural noun suffixes –s or –es (e.g. dog, dogs; wish, wishes) Suffixes that can be added to verbs (e.g. helping, helped, helper) How the prefix un– changes the meaning of verbs and adjectives (negation, e.g. unkind, or undoing, e.g. untie the boat)	How words can combine to make sentences How and can join words and join sentences	Sequencing sentences to form short narratives	Separation of words with spaces Introduction to the use of capital letters, full stops, question marks and exclamation marks to demarcate sentences Capital letters for names and for the personal pronoun I	word, sentence, letter, capital letter, full stop, punctuation, singular, plural, question mark, exclamation mark
2 [164]	Formation of nouns using suffixes such as –ness, –er Formation of adjectives using suffixes such as –ful, –less (A fuller list of suffixes can be found in the spelling annex.) Use of the suffixes –er and	Subordination (using when, if, that, or because) and co-ordination (using or, and, or but) Expanded noun phrases for description and specification (e.g. the blue butterfly, plain flour, the man in the moon) Sentences with different	The consistent use of present tense versus past tense throughout texts Use of the continuous form of verbs in the present and past tense to mark actions in progress (e.g. she is drumming, he was shouting)	Capital letters, full stops, question marks and exclamation marks to demarcate sentences Commas to separate items in a list Apostrophes to mark contracted forms in spelling	verb, tense (past, present), adjective, noun, suffix, apostrophe, comma

	–est to form comparisons of adjectives and adverbs	forms: statement, question, exclamation, command
3 [165]	Formation of nouns using a range of prefixes , such as super–, anti–, auto–  Use of the determiners a or an according to whether the next word begins with a consonant or a vowel (e.g. a rock, an open box )  Word families based on common words	Expressing time and cause using conjunctions (e.g. when, before, after, while, because ), adverbs (e.g. then, next, soon, so ), or prepositions (e.g. before, after, during, in, because of )	Introduction to paragraphs as a way to group related material  Headings and sub-headings to aid presentation  Use of the perfect form of verbs to mark relationships of time and cause (e.g. I have written it down so we can check what he said. )	Introduction to speech marks to punctuate direct speech	word family, conjunction, adverb, preposition, direct speech, inverted commas (or ‘speech marks’), prefix, consonant, vowel, clause, subordinate clause
4 [166]	The grammatical difference between plural and possessive -s  Standard English forms for verb inflections instead of local spoken forms (e.g. we were instead of we was , or I did instead of I done )	Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun within a sentence to avoid ambiguity and repetition  Fronted adverbials	Use of paragraphs to organise ideas around a theme  Appropriate choice of pronoun or noun across sentences	Use of speech marks to punctuate direct speech  Apostrophes to mark singular and plural possession (e.g. the girl’s name, the boys’ boots )  Use of commas after fronted adverbials (e.g. Later that day, I heard the bad news. )	pronoun, possessive pronoun, adverbial
5 [167]	Converting nouns or adjectives into verbs using suffixes (e.g. –ate; –ise; –ify )  Verb prefixes (e.g. dis–, de–, mis–, over– and re– )	Relative clauses beginning with who, which, where, why, or whose  Indicating degrees of possibility using modal verbs (e.g. might, should, will, must ) or adverbs (e.g. perhaps, surely )	Devices to build cohesion within a paragraph (e.g. then, after that, this, firstly )  Linking ideas across paragraphs using adverbials of time (e.g. later ), place (e.g. nearby ) and number (e.g. secondly )	Brackets, dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis  Use of commas to clarify meaning or avoid ambiguity	relative clause, modal verb, relative pronoun, parenthesis, bracket, dash, determiner, cohesion, ambiguity

6 [168]	The difference between vocabulary typical of informal speech and vocabulary appropriate for formal speech and writing (e.g. said versus reported, alleged, or claimed in formal speech or writing)	Use of the passive voice to affect the presentation of information in a sentence (e.g. I broke the window in the greenhouse versus The window in the greenhouse was broken) Expanded noun phrases to convey complicated information concisely (e.g. the boy that jumped over the fence is over there, or the fact that it was raining meant the end of sports day) The difference between structures typical of informal speech and structures appropriate for formal speech and writing (such as the use of question tags, e.g. He's your friend, isn't he?, or the use of the subjunctive in some very formal writing and speech)	Linking ideas across paragraphs using a wider range of cohesive devices: semantic cohesion (e.g. repetition of a word or phrase), grammatical connections (e.g. the use of adverbials such as on the other hand, in contrast, or as a consequence), and elision. Layout devices, such as headings, sub-headings, columns, bullets, or tables, to structure text	Use of the semi-colon, colon and dash to indicate a stronger subdivision of a sentence than a comma. Punctuation of bullet points to list information How hyphens can be used to avoid ambiguity (e.g. man eating shark versus man-eating shark, or recover versus re-cover)	active and passive voice, subject and object, hyphen, synonym, colon, semi-colon, bullet points

The following glossary includes all the technical grammatical terms used in the Programme of Study. It aims for brevity and clarity rather than exhaustive accuracy. Apart from a handful of terms which are specific to schools (connective, root word), the terms below are used as standard, with the meanings defined here, in most books on English grammar. For further details, teachers should consult the many books that are available.

Terms in definitions

As in any tightly structured area of knowledge, grammar and spelling involve a network of technical concepts that help to define each other. Consequently, the definition of one concept builds on other concepts that are equally technical. Concepts that are defined elsewhere in the glossary appear in blue, and are hyperlinked. For some concepts, the technical definition may be slightly different from the meaning that some teachers may have learned at school; in these cases, the more familiar meaning is introduced first, and then linked to the technical definition.

active voice	A verb in the active voice has its usual pattern of subject and object – contrast passive voice.	During the afternoon, the children will follow the nature trail and learn about the trees, flowers and wildlife in this interesting habitat.
adjective	E.g. big, extensive, vertical Adjectives are sometimes called ‘describing words’ because they pick out single characteristics such as size or colour, but this can be confusing, because verbs , nouns and adverbs can do the same. Instead, it is better to identify adjectives by their uses: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• either before a noun (e.g. big box) to modify the noun</li> <li>• or after the verb be (e.g. is big) as its complement.</li> </ul>	The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed. [The grounds are extensive .] (Compare: The lamp glowed . [verb] It was such a bright red ! [noun] He walked clumsily . [adverb])
adverb	E.g. quickly, soon, very Adverbs are often said to describe manner or time, but prepositions , nouns and subordinate clauses can also do this. Instead, it is better to identify adverbs by their uses: they modify the meaning of a verb (or any other word-class except nouns ).	Usha went upstairs to play on her computer. (Compare: Usha went up the stairs. [preposition] She arrived this evening . [noun] She arrived when we expected her . [subordinate clause])
adverbial	An adverbial is part of a clause that behaves like an adverb in modifying the verb, and which may itself be an adverb, but may instead be a preposition or a subordinate clause.	... leaving school at 9.30am Usha went upstairs to play on her computer .

apostrophe	An apostrophe shows <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>either the place of omitted letters (e.g. I'm for I am)</li> <li>or possession (e.g. Usha's mother).</li> </ul>	I'm going out, Usha, and I won't be long. Usha's mother went out and she was in charge.
clause	A clause is <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>either a complete sentence,</li> <li>or part of a sentence that could be used, with small changes, as a complete sentence.</li> </ul> In traditional grammar a clause had to have a finite verb, but modern grammarians generally recognise non-finite clauses as well.	Usha's mother went out and she was in charge. Usha's mother went out and she was in charge . Usha went upstairs to play on her computer . Usha went upstairs to play on her computer . The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed .
cohesion	A text has cohesion if its meaning is coherent – i.e. if it is clear how the meanings of its parts fit together. It may contain repeated references to the same person or thing, as shown by the different underlined styles in the example; and the logical relations (e.g. time and cause) between the parts are clear.	A visit has been arranged for the Year 6 class, to Mountain Peaks Field Study Centre , on July 18 th , leaving school at 9.30am. This is an overnight visit . The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed. During the afternoon, the children will follow the nature trail !
cohesive device	Cohesive devices are words that make clear how a text's parts are related to one another. Some words such as determiners and pronouns are especially important for building cohesion because they refer back to earlier words. Other words such as prepositions , conjunctions and adverbs ( connectives ) make relations clear.	A visit has been arranged for the Year 6 class, to Mountain Peaks Field Study Centre, on July 18 th , leaving school at 9.30am. This is an overnight visit. ... The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed. During the afternoon, the children will follow the nature trail
complement	A verb 's complement (or 'predicative complement') 'completes' the verb's meaning by adding more information about the verb's subject (or, in some cases, its object). Unlike the verb's object, its complement may be an adjective. The verb be normally has a complement.	This is an overnight visit . [You make me happy .] It was Wednesday . ... she was in charge .
conjunction	E.g. and, or, although, if A conjunction links a following word or phrase to some other part of the sentence, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>either in coordination (e.g. ... and ...)</li> <li>or as a subordinate clause (e.g. ... although ...).</li> </ul>	She got herself two biscuits and a cake that she had bought yesterday. She waved to her mother and watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street. We walk before we run. [conjunction] We walk before the age of two. [preposition]
connective	'Connective' is an informal name for words whose main function is to connect the ideas expressed in different clauses ; such words may be prepositions , conjunctions or adverbs .	It rained on sports day so we had to compete without worrying about getting wet, but it was great fun because we got really muddy.

continuous	The continuous (also known as the “progressive”) form of a verb generally expresses action in progress at a specific time. It is formed by taking the -ing form of the verb (e.g. doing, singing, reading) and adding the verb be before it (e.g. he was reading). It can also be combined with the perfect (e.g. he has been reading). The past continuous form (e.g. he was playing) is sometimes called the “imperfect”.	James is studying, so I won’t disturb him. She was playing basketball at lunchtime. Usha had been preparing for her play for two hours when her mother called.
coordination	If words or phrases are coordinated, they are linked as equals by means of a conjunction such as and. (Contrast subordination.)	Susan and Amra met in a cafe. They talked and laughed for an hour. When they went home, Susan got a bus but Amra walked.
determiner	E.g. the, a, this, any, my A determiner stands before a noun and any other words that modify the noun. A singular noun such as boy or number (but not coffee or beauty) requires a determiner, so we can say with the boy but not: with boy. (See also: possessive.)	This is an overnight visit. Your child will be travelling by coach and will be accompanied by Mrs Talib, the class teacher, and her teaching assistant, Mrs Medway.
elision	Elision (or ellipsis) is the omission of a word or phrase which is expected and predictable.	She waved to her mother and [she] watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street. She did it because she wanted to [do it].
etymology	A word’s etymology is its history: its origins in earlier forms of English or other languages, and how its form and meaning have changed.	The word school was borrowed from a Greek word σχολή (skhole) meaning ‘leisure’.
finite verb	A finite verb is limited (‘finite’) in terms of both its tense and its subject. Finite verbs are important because a written sentence normally needs at least one clause that contains a finite verb, and a finite verb must have an explicit subject.	Mum said she wasn’t going to be long. The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed.
fronted	A word that would normally follow the verb may be ‘fronted’ to the start of the clause; for instance, a fronted adverbial is an adverbial which has been put at the front of the clause.	During the afternoon, the children will follow the nature trail

future tense	English has no ‘future tense’ comparable with its present and past tenses. Reference to future time can be marked in a number of different ways, all of which include a present-tense verb .	It will leave tomorrow. It leaves tomorrow. It may leave tomorrow. It is going to leave tomorrow.
homophone	Two words are homophones if they have the same pronunciation.	hear, here
inflection	Inflection is a change (‘bending’) of morphology which signals a special grammatical classification of the word.	dogs is the plural inflection of dog . went is the past-tense inflection of go .
modal verb	The main modal verbs are will, would, can, could, may, might, shall, should, must and ought . A modal verb only has finite forms and has no suffix -s in the present tense even when its subject is singular. They are important for expressing degrees of certainty, or ability and obligation.	Your child will be travelling by coach. not: Your child wills be ... nor: Your child is pleased to will be travelling You will/must/might be happy. You will/must/could work harder.
modify	If one word modifies another, the modifying word stands as near as possible to the modified word and makes the latter’s meaning more specific.	In class teacher , teacher is modified by class so it means ‘class teacher’ (a kind of teacher)
morphology	A word’s morphology is its internal make-up defined in terms of a root word , with changes such as the addition of prefixes or suffixes .	dogs has the morphological make-up: dog + s .
noun	E.g. cat, person, arrival, purpose Nouns – the largest word-class of all – are sometimes called ‘naming words’ because they name people, places and ‘things’; but many ‘things’ can also be named by other word classes such as verbs and prepositions . Instead, it is better to identify nouns by their possible grammatical uses, as the subject or object of a verb .	A visit has been arranged for the Year 6 class , to Mountain Peaks Field Study Centre , on July 18th , leaving school at 9.30am . He arrived at last, but his late arrival spoilt everything.
object	A verb ’s object is normally a noun or pronoun which is found immediately after the verb, and which we expect to find there. Unlike complements , objects can be turned into the subject of a passive verb, and cannot be adjectives.	They designed a nature trail . (Compare: A nature trail was designed) Not: They designed pretty.

passive voice	A passive verb (a verb ‘in the passive voice’ – contrast ‘active voice’) normally has a suffix ed, follows the verb be, and has its normal (‘active’) object and subject reversed so that the active object is used as the passive subject, and the active subject appears as an optional by phrase. A verb is not ‘passive’ just because it has a ‘passive’ meaning – it must be the passive version of an active verb.	A visit was arranged by the school. A visit was arranged. (Compare the active: The school arranged a visit.)
past tense	A past-tense verb (‘a verb in the past tense’) normally has a suffix ed, names an event or state in the past and is a finite verb. Some verbs have irregular morphology (e.g. was, came) Past tense can also have other meanings.	She waved to her mother and watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street. I knew that today was Sunday. If he understood you, he would trust you.
perfect	The perfect form of a verb generally calls attention to the consequences of a prior situation. It is formed by taking the past participle of the verb (e.g. shown, taken, helped) and adding the verb have before it (e.g. she has helped). It can also be combined with the continuous (e.g. he has been reading).	She has recorded some popular songs for us to listen to. I had eaten lunch by the time you came to visit yesterday. Tariq will have been doing his homework all day by the time he finishes!
phrase	A phrase is a group of words containing one word which all the other words help to modify. (One possible notation double-underlines the modified word and single-underlines the rest of the phrase.) A phrase whose modified word is a verb is a clause or sentence.	She waved to her mother. She waved to her mother. She waved to her mother.
plural	A plural noun normally has a suffix s and means more than one example of the noun’s basic meaning. There are a few nouns with irregular morphology (e.g. mice, formulae) or irregular meanings.	The children will follow the nature trail and learn about the trees, flowers and wildlife. The centre has extensive grounds. (but not: ... a ground)
prefix	A prefix is added at the beginning of a word in order to turn it into another word. (Contrast suffix.)	overnight, disappeared
preposition	E.g. in, of, at, with, by, between A preposition links a following noun or pronoun to some other word in the sentence. Unlike conjunctions, they can’t link clauses.	She waved to her mother and watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street.

present tense	A present-tense verb ('a verb in the present tense') normally names a situation that is true now. It normally has either no suffix or –s (depending on the subject ), and is a finite verb .	The centre has extensive grounds. He can swim. When he arrives , he will unpack his bag. Your father tells me that you're not happy.
possessive	A possessive is normally either a noun followed by an apostrophe and –s, or a possessive pronoun , and names the owner ('possessor') of the noun that it modifies . A possessive acts as a determiner , and must be replaced by an ordinary determiner if it is turned into an of phrase.	Tariq's book (the book of Tariq, i.e. that Tariq owns) somebody else's book (the book of somebody else)
pronoun	E.g. me, him, he, his, himself, who, what, that A pronoun functions like a noun except that it is harder to modify and grammatically more specialised.	She waved to her mother and watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street. This is an overnight visit. The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed.
punctuation	Punctuation includes any conventional features of written presentation other than spelling and general layout: the standard punctuation marks ( . , ; : ? ! - -- ( ) “ ’ ), and also word-spaces , capital letters , apostrophes , paragraph breaks and bullet points. One of the roles of punctuation is to indicate sentence boundaries.	"I'm going out, Usha, and I won't be long," Mum said.
root word	A root word is a word which does not contain any smaller root words or prefixes or suffixes .	play, compute , as in: So she played on the computer .
relative clause	A relative clause is a subordinate clause that modifies a noun by including it in the clause; for instance, cake that he had left yesterday means 'cake like this: she had left it yesterday'.	The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed . She got herself a cake that she had bought yesterday .
sentence	All the words in a sentence are held together by purely grammatical links, rather than merely by links of cohesion . A sentence is defined by its grammar, but signalled by its punctuation.	Correct punctuation: A visit has been arranged for the Year 6 class, to Mountain Peaks Field Study Centre, on July 18 th , leaving school at 9.30am. This is an overnight visit. Incorrect punctuation: She loved her computer, she got it for Christmas.

subject	A verb's subject is normally the noun or pronoun which names the 'do-er' or 'be-er'. Unlike the verb's object and complement, the subject normally stands just before it and decides whether or not a present-tense verb takes a suffix s. In a question, the subject follows the verb.	The children will follow the nature trail. Usha's mother went out. Will the children follow? Whether it's going to rain is uncertain. A visit has [not: have] been arranged.
subjunctive	The subjunctive form of a verb is occasionally used in very formal contexts to indicate unreality, uncertainty, wish, emotion, judgement, or necessity. Its inflection is complicated, because it does not always differ from non-subjunctive forms. It has a distinguishable form in the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the third person singular of any verb in the present tense does not have its usual –s ending</li> <li>• the verb be in the present tense is always "be" (not "am", "are" or "is")</li> <li>• the verb be in the past tense is always "were" (not "was")</li> <li>• the negatives of verbs in the present are formed differently</li> <li>• some modal verbs have a different form.</li> </ul>	I insist that he come to visit every week. (He doesn't actually come to visit, but I would like him to.) (Compare: I insist that he comes to visit every week. [I am insisting that it's actually the case that he does visit, not simply that I would like him to.] The school requires that all pupils be honest. (It's possible for pupils not to be honest, but the school would like them to be.) If she were the President, things would be much better. (But she isn't the President.) Father demanded that we not go to the forest. I wish you would stop! (not "will stop")
subordinate clause	A subordinate clause is subordinate to some word outside itself: it may modify this word (e.g. as a relative clause or as an adverbial), or it may be used as a verb's subject or object. How a subordinate clause fits into the larger sentence is normally marked grammatically, either by a special introductory word such as a conjunction, or by special non-finite forms of the verb. However: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• some subordinate clauses have no marking.</li> <li>• clauses that are directly quoted as 'direct speech' are not subordinate clauses.</li> </ul>	The centre has extensive grounds in which a nature trail has been designed. He watched her as she disappeared in the fog at the bottom of the street. A visit has been arranged for the Year 6 class, leaving school at 9.30am. Usha went upstairs to play on her computer. She saw an hour had passed (this subordinate clause has no marking)

subordination	Most words in a sentence are linked in the unequal relation of subordination (rather than the equality of coordination ). For example, a modifier is subordinate to the word it modifies, and a verb's subject , object and complement are all subordinate to the verb. In each case, the subordinate word makes the other word's meaning more precise. See also subordinate clause .	A big car swept past. ( big is subordinate to car , car and past are subordinate to swept )
suffix	A suffix is an 'ending', something added at the end of one word to turn it into another word. (Contrast prefix .)	has s , leav ing , accompan ied , teacher s , assistan t
tense	The choice between present and past . (English has no future tense .)	He likes it. He liked it.
verb	E.g. be, take, arrive, imagine  Verbs are sometimes called 'doing words' because they often name an action that someone does; but this can be confusing, because they also name events (where things simply happen) or states (where nothing changes). Moreover, actions can also be named by nouns .  Instead, it is better to identify verbs by their ability to have a tense – either present or past (see also future tense ).	He looked out of the window.  A nature trail has been designed.  Your child will be travelling by coach.  Yusuf is tired.  It rained all day.  (Compare: The journey will take an hour. [noun])  His tiredness was easy to understand. [noun])
word	A word is a unit of grammar that can be selected and moved around relatively independently of other such units. In punctuation, words are normally separated by word spaces.  But there are challenging complexities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• When word-divisions are unclear we may be able to show this uncertainty by using hyphens.</li> <li>• apostrophes for omitted letters show where two words are treated as one.</li> </ul>	headteacher or head teacher (can be written with or without a space)  primary-school teacher (normally written with a hyphen)  English teacher (written with a space)  I'm going out...  ... at 9.30am .  The time was 8.10pm .
word family	The words in a word family are normally related to each other by a combination of form, grammar and meaning.	teacher – teach  extensive – extend – extent
