

Introduction

This toolkit has been created to help you access useful sources of information, decide which options are best for you and feel confident in your choices.

Some parts are relevant to all students, but there are pathways for different groups designed to help you find the information most relevant to your own circumstances.

How to use this Toolkit:

Stage 1: General questions you might find useful to start off, whatever your circumstances, and selection of the right toolkit pathway for you.

Stage 2: For each pathway (type of student), specific questions relevant to your circumstances.

Stage 3: Additional topic-based groups of detailed questions, links and further information.

You can start at Stage 1 or enter at another stage.

Look out also for Ideas to Try which may help your decision-making process.