

Notes for teachers: preparing pupils for on-screen marking

Published March 2017

All key stage 2 tests will be marked on screen. To help ensure that pupils' test scripts can be scanned and their answers read and marked on screen, please follow the advice below.

- Pupils must use a dark pencil or a pen with blue or black ink. They must not use glitter pens or coloured pens, in particular red. These are illegible when scanned for on-screen marking.
- If a pupil needs to change an answer, they should be encouraged to cross out their answer, rather than rub it out, and write their new answer next to it. This is because rubbed out answers sometimes reappear during the scanning process, which could result in a pupil's answer being marked as incorrect. For mathematics questions where drawing is required, pupils should be encouraged to carefully rub out their original answer before recording their new answer.
- Pupils should keep their test scripts in good condition and not fold their answer booklets. Folded or crumpled scripts don't scan clearly.
- Answer booklets will be cut and scanned for on-screen marking. The examples on the following page show which sections will be cut off. When you are preparing pupils for the tests, please encourage them to write their answers in the space provided. Responses in the margins or the grey zone will not be marked. Pupils can use any other white space to do their working out in the mathematics tests.
- The answer booklets include barcodes so each page of a test script is associated with the right pupil. Pupils must not colour in the white space or write on the barcodes. They must not write on or around the lines at the top and bottom of a page.
