3. Information: dedicated schools grant (DSG) for 2020 to 2021

The DSG allocations for local authorities for the 2020 to 2021 financial year have been confirmed.

We have published the allocations tables and supporting documents which show how much funding each local authority will receive, and how that funding has been calculated.

We will publish conditions of grant in the new year.

The DSG will continue to have 4 blocks:

- the schools block is allocated on the basis of the per-pupil units of funding announced in October 2019, plus funding for premises and growth

- the central school services block is allocated on the basis of the per-pupil rates, and historic commitments announced in October 2019
- the high needs block is based on the national funding formula announced in October 2019
- the early years block is allocated using the funding rates and calculations announced in October 2019

Further information is available in the:

These events involve testimonies from schools and colleges already holding the Standard and are hosted by the Quality in Careers National Director. They are intended for staff in schools and colleges that have not yet engaged with the Standard.

The event details, including the speakers from schools and colleges, have now been confirmed:

- Wednesday 4 March 2020, Newcastle upon Tyne

Free training is available on integrated curriculum and financial planning (ICFP) for all school leaders (headteachers, school business professionals, governors and other relevant school staff) and local authority officials.

ICFP is a process that helps schools plan the best curriculum for their pupils with the funding they have available.

This training will help to develop basic skills and knowledge of ICFP, and help you to feel comfortable with the key principles of ICFP so you can start using it in your school.

You can book onto the training now and sessions will run until the end of March 2020. Training will be delivered through webinars and half-day workshops, available across a range of time and locations to support accessibility.

To find out more and book a place on this course visit the Institute of School business Leaders \(ISBL\) website or email training@isbl.org.uk.
