Appeals for GCSE and A level: Summer 2014 exam series

Some inaccuracies in the data have come to light in our publication Appeals for GCSE and A level: Summer 2014 exam series. The report provides information on the number of appeals made against results for GCSE and A level qualifications in England, Wales, Northern Ireland, other UK regions and overseas during the summer 2014 exam series. The inaccuracies are due to some errors in the data provided by an exam board.

This affects:

- Report and tables contained within the report: including references and commentary about grades challenged through enquiries and appeals
- Table 5 and Table 6 in the appendix as well as in the separate Excel file.

Some of the inaccuracies also affect 2012 and 2013 summer series publications of Appeals for GCSE and A level.

The corrected version of the data will be reported in the summer 2015 exam series release of the publication due on 17 March 2016. The corrected data from 2012 and 2013 will also be reported in this release. We apologise for any confusion caused as a result.
