

Post-16 Learner Voice Wales survey results, 2015

This release summarises the headline results from the third annual Learner Voice Wales survey, covering learners in further education (FE), work-based learning (WBL), adult community learning (ACL) and Welsh for Adults (WfA). It is intended as a source of information to help providers, the Welsh Government and Estyn identify strengths and weaknesses in post-16 learning, and take action to improve the quality of provision.

The survey took place between 1 December 2014 and 20 February 2015. Learners were asked to rate various aspects of their experience relating to information and advice; support; teaching and learning; wellbeing; responsiveness; and overall satisfaction.

The latest figures show that:

- 85% of learners responding to the core survey rated their overall experience as 'very good' or 'good'.
- There has been a positive improvement in overall experience across all sectors, most notably among further education full and part-time learners.
- Work-based and adult community learners continue to be the most positive groups of learners.
- 98% of learners responding to the easy read survey rated their overall experience as 'very good' or 'quite good'.

Key Results

A total of 63,860 learners took part in the 2015 Learner Voice Wales survey including 1,966 learners taking part in the Easy Read survey. Learners taking part in the core survey (61,894) represent 47.8% of all in-scope learners across Wales, up from 43.4% in 2014 and 40.0% in 2013. Among those sampled to take part in the survey, a participation rate of 67.5% was achieved (compared to 67.9% in 2014 and 67.7% in 2013).

A total of 676 learners completed the core survey in Welsh and a further 7 learners completed the Easy Read survey in Welsh.

More than eight in ten (82.4%) were successfully matched to the Lifelong Learner Wales Record (LLWR), which represents a fall from 89.9% in 2014 but remains higher than the 74% achieved in 2013.

Table 1a shows the participation rate for the core survey by sector and mode of study, and Table 1b shows the participation rate for the Easy Read survey by sector only.

(a) 13 FE institutions, 20 WBL providers/providers/consortia, 18 ACL partnerships, 6 WfA language centres took part in the survey.

(b) These figures relate to FE learners successfully matched to the LLWR or who provided information regarding mode of study during the survey; unmatched FE learners who could not provide this information during the survey were not assigned a mode of study, but are included in the 'Total' – see note (d) below.

(c) These figures relate to WBL learners successfully matched to the LLWR or who provided this information during the survey; unmatched WBL learners who could not provide this information during the survey were not assigned a mode of study but are included in the 'Total' – see note (e) below.

(d) This figure includes 259 FE learners who cannot be identified as full-time or part-time because they could not be matched to the LLWR and could not provide this information in the survey.

(e) This figure includes 500 WBL learners who cannot be identified as studying on the Apprenticeships or Employability Programmes frameworks because they could not be matched to the LLWR and could not provide this information in the survey.

(f) Match rate data is only currently available at the 'total sector' and 'overall total' level.

(g) Match rate for WfA relates only to learners from Gwent WfA Centre as no LLWR data was submitted by other WfA Centres.

(h) The match rate is based on all learners even though there is no LLWR data for some WfA learners. Excluding WfA learners without LLWR data increases the match rate to 84.4%.

(a) 9 FE institutions, 6 WBL providers/consortia, and 10 ACL partnerships, took part in the Easy Read survey. No Welsh for Adults Centres participated in the Easy Read survey in 2015

The results to the core survey show that:

- In line with the previous surveys 85% of all respondents rated their overall experience as ‘good’ or ‘very good’, compared with 84% in 2014 and 2013. In more detail, half (49%) rated their overall experience as ‘very good’ and just over a third (36%) said it was ‘good’. Only a very small proportion (three per cent in total) said that their overall experience was ‘fairly poor’, ‘poor’ or ‘very poor’.
 - There has been a positive improvement in overall experience across all sectors, most notably among FE full-time, FE part-time, and WfA learners showing a three percentage point increase in the proportion rating it ‘very good’ (from 31% to 34%, from 58% to 61% and from 40% to 43% respectively). WBL learners also registered a two percentage point increase on this measure (from 62% to 64%).
 - While all groups of learners are more positive than in 2014, ACL and WBL learners continue to be the most positive, with 65% and 64% rating their overall experience as ‘very good’ respectively. In comparison, 37% of learners in further education rate their overall experience as ‘very good’.
- Nine in ten learners said that their course either met (50%) or exceeded (40%) their expectations. Again, this is in line with findings for 2014 and 2013 (89% and 90% met or exceeded, respectively).
- As in previous years, learners remain most positive about:
 - The respect shown to learners by provider’s staff (63% ‘very good’, 27% ‘good’), and teachers and trainers treating everyone fairly (59% ‘very good’, 28% ‘good’).
 - Feeling safe whilst on their learning programme (59% ‘very good’, 32% ‘good’).
 - The help they receive to settle into their provider or course (52% ‘very good’; 34% ‘good’)
 - (For WBL learners only) ensuring the training they receive is relevant to their work (67% ‘very good’, 26% ‘good’) and staff giving learners enough one-to-one support (65% ‘very good’, 25% ‘good’). Both of these measures have seen a continued improvement in the proportion rating them ‘very good’ (from 64% and 61% in 2014 respectively).
- Learners were comparatively less positive about a range of other factors (although still with very high levels of satisfaction and showing some modest improvement on previous years) including:
 - The information and advice offered to learners both when choosing a course (43% ‘very good’ and 39% ‘good’) and the different options available to them once they have completed it (36% ‘very good’, 39% ‘good’). Although, encouragingly there has been a slight increase in the proportion of learners rating these questions as ‘very good’ since 2014 (42% and 34% respectively).
 - The ability for learners to give their views, for example, through student council, surveys or questionnaires (40% ‘very good’, 36% ‘good’). There has also been an increase in the proportion rating this as ‘very good’ compared to 2014 (38%) and 2013 (37%).
 - Telling learners what has happened as a result of the views they have given (34% ‘very good’, 32% ‘good’). Again, there has been an increase in the proportion of learners rating feedback as ‘very good’ year on year (32% in 2014 and 31% in 2013). However, 14% of learners said they ‘did not know’ how to rate their provider on this measure, suggesting that providers could still do more to raise learners’ awareness of how they are responding to learners’ views and input.

- (For FE and WBL learners only) the support given to learners to help them have a healthy lifestyle (33% 'very good', 33% 'good'). There has been a three percentage point increase in the proportion saying 'very good' compared with both 2014 and 2013.
- In relation to teaching and learning, the findings are mixed. While there was a slight fall in the proportion rating a number of measures as 'very good' in 2014 most have regained ratings from 2013 including: explaining the work you have to do (57%); and making good use of learners' time (56%). In addition, the proportion rating talking about their learning aims as 'very good' has increased by two percentage points (from 52% to 54%); as has the proportion who feel their teachers and tutors treat everyone fairly (from 57% to 59%). Only delivering the course in a way that keeps learners interested remains below its 2013 rating (51% 'very good' compared with 53% in 2013).
- As was the case in both previous surveys, older learners were more likely to be positive about their overall experience. Similarly, females are more likely to be positive than males.
- Reflecting an increase from 2014, around half of learners were given the opportunity to learn in Welsh or in both Welsh and English (49% compared with 45% previously).
- When asked, one in ten learners said they would prefer to learn in Welsh or in a mixture of both Welsh and English (11%).

The results to the Easy Read survey show that:

- As per last year, almost all learners completing the Easy Read survey reported a positive learning experience: 77% rate their experience as 'very good' with a further 21% rating their experience as 'quite good'.
- In line with last year, questions that elicited particularly positive responses relate to:
 - The respect learners receive from staff, with 84% rating this as 'very good'.
 - More than eight in ten (82%) rate the safety on the course as 'very good'.
 - A similar proportion (82%) feel the support they receive from staff is 'very good'.
- This year, questions that elicited comparatively less positive responses from learners relate to:
 - The information they received about the course, with 66% rating this as 'very good'.
 - Around seven in ten (71%) rated the chance they get to say what they think as 'very good'.
 - More than seven in ten (73%) of learners rated the feedback they get on how to improve as 'very good'.

Further information on how to interpret the findings is provided in the 'notes' following.

(c) This battery of questions was tailored for ACL and WfA learners, therefore direct comparisons can not be made with the other sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(d) This battery of questions was tailored for WBL learners, therefore direct comparisons can not be made with the other sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(e) FE FT learners were able to complete the teaching and learning battery of questions upto three for each main qualifications, therefore the total number of responses to the 'teaching and learning' theme is higher than for other themes.

(a) 9 FE institutions, 6 WBL providers/providers/consortia, and 10 ACL partnerships, took part in the Easy Read survey. No Welsh for Adults Centres participated in the Easy Read Survey in 2015. Attempts should not be made to compare the Easy Read survey results between sectors. Not all providers took part in the Easy Read survey, and learner participation was at the discretion of providers. The results are therefore not representative of each sector.

(a) Question text in the table is abbreviated/shortened.

(b) These figures represent the unweighted base. All other figures are derived from the weighted base

(c) FE FT learners were able to complete the teaching and learning battery of questions up to three times for each main qualification, therefore responses to this battery are by course, rather than learners. As a result, the total number of responses is higher for this battery of questions than for others

(d) To allow for a more robust comparison between questions, sectors and providers, 'this does not apply to me' are not included in the question base. Percentages are calculated on all those giving a valid response, either very good – very poor or 'don't know'.

(a) The composite score is the average number of all the 'very good' or 'good' responses across all questions within each theme of questions.

(b) These figures represent the unweighted base. All other figures are derived from the weighted base

(c) This battery of questions was tailored for learners from different sectors. The score refers to all FE and WBL learners. Direct comparisons can not be made with ACL and WfA sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(d) This battery of questions was tailored for learners from different sectors. The score refers to all ACL learners. Direct comparisons can not be made with WBL and FE sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(e) This battery of questions was tailored for learners from different sectors. The score refers to all WfA learners. Direct comparisons can not be made with WBL and FE sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(f) This battery of questions was tailored for learners from different sectors. The score refers to all FE, ACL and WfA learners. Direct comparisons can not be made with WBL. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

(g) FE FT learners were able to complete the teaching and learning battery of questions upto three for each main qualifications, therefore the total number of responses to the 'teaching and learning' theme is higher than for other themes.

(h) This battery of questions was tailored for learners from different sectors. The score refers to all WBL learners. Direct comparisons can not be made with FE, ACL and WfA sectors. See the following tables for a sector breakdown by question

Notes

1. Data sources

Learner Voice Wales is an annual learner satisfaction survey carried out by Ipsos MORI on behalf of the Welsh Government; this is the third year of the survey.

The survey was administered to learners by providers between 1 December 2014 and 20 February 2015. It was available in English and Welsh. Learners were able to complete the core survey online or on paper, the Easy Read survey was only available in paper format. Learners were asked to rate their provider on: the information, advice and support provided to them; provider responsiveness, learning environment and student well-being; quality of teaching and training; and overall satisfaction.

The results reported here are based on a census of work-based and full-time further education learners and a 25% sample of part-time further education, adult community and Welsh for Adults learners. Within this population, providers were asked to achieve a minimum response rate of 50% and a representative sample of learners by age, gender, qualification level and course type (full- or part-time). There is no population information on learners eligible for the Easy Read survey. Providers were advised to offer the Easy Read survey only if a learner was still unable to complete the main questionnaire with supervision.

Where possible, online responses were 'live' matched to learner data held in the Lifelong Learning Wales Record (LLWR). Where this was not possible (and for paper responses) learners were asked to specify their age, gender, ethnicity, and course level /programme type for analysis.

LLWR data is collected by the Department for Education and Skills (DfES) to inform funding allocations, monitor performance and outcomes and to inform strategy development. The data provides the official source of statistics on post-16 learners in Wales (excluding Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) and school sixth forms). This release uses data from a statistical freeze taken in February 2015.

Further information on LLWR including user support manuals can be found at:

<http://gov.wales/topics/educationandskills/learningproviders/datacollection/llwr09/?lang=en>

2. Definitions

2.1. Terminology

Rim-weighting uses a mathematical algorithm to help provide an even distribution of results across the entire dataset while balancing certain categories such as age or gender to pre-determined totals. It weights the specified characteristics simultaneously and disturbs each variable as little as possible.

2.2. Cohort of learners

The cohort underpinning the 2015 Learner Voice Wales survey comprises of active DfES-funded learners enrolled at a Welsh provider of post-16 education or training between 1 December 2014 and 20 February 2015. The cohort does not include non-DfES funded learners or learners at higher education institutes or sixth forms.

3. Rounding

All figures in this release are rounded to the nearest whole number and therefore there may be slight discrepancies between the sum of the constituent rows/columns and the independently rounded totals.

A * means a figure greater than 0% but less than 0.5%

4. Key Quality information

4.1. Relevance

The statistics presented in this release are used both internally within the Welsh Government and externally by other individuals and organisations.

Within the Welsh Government they contribute towards the Programme for Government commitment to 'ensure that learner voice is central to strategic decision making in colleges of FE', as a key element of the Quality and Effectiveness Framework for post-16 learning in Wales.

Further information on the Programme for Government can be found at:

Programme for Government

Further information on the Quality and Effectiveness Framework for post-16 learning can be found at:

Quality and Effectiveness Framework

4.2. Accuracy

The data was quality checked to remove duplicate responses and apply edits to the paper survey where either invalid responses had been given, or multiple responses had been given to single code-answers.

Weighting was applied to the main questionnaire at three levels to ensure that the data is representative of the learner profile: i) weighting learners within provider; ii) an additional rim-weight was applied to account for distribution of responses by provider within a sector; and iii) a final rim-weight was applied to for the distribution of responses by sector within the all-Wales dataset. The variables chosen for weighting can be summarised as follows:

- FE: interlocking age and gender, full-time/part-time, highest level of qualification
- WBL: interlocking age and gender, programme type
- ACL: age and gender
- WfA: age, gender, level of course.

Data for Gower College Swansea WBL has been weighted to match their learner profile as of February 2014, this is in line with latest data available for this provider through the LLWR. For all other providers, data has been weighted to the 2014/15 statistical freeze of the LLWR taken in February 2015.

The Easy Read survey data is unweighted because there is no population information for eligible learners.

4.3. Timeliness and punctuality

The release has been published within eight weeks of the fieldwork window closing; this balances timeliness against the need for accurate data-quality. The statistics in this release use data derived from the 2014/15 statistical freeze of the LLWR taken in February 2015, to maximise the matching of respondents to detailed LLWR data.

4.4. Accessibility and clarity

This statistical release is pre-announced and then published on the Statistics section of the Welsh Government website.

4.5. Comparability

The results from the core survey are not directly comparable with findings from the Easy Read survey. This is because the Easy Read survey uses a different response scale and question wording. Moreover, attempts should not be made to compare the Easy Read survey results between sectors. Not all providers took part in the Easy Read survey, and learner participation was at the discretion of providers. The results are, therefore, not representative.

The survey questions and methodology employed in 2013, 2014 and 2015 Learner Voice Wales are different to that of the provider-led learner voice pilots in 2009 and 2010. Questions were designed in consultation with providers and cognitively tested with learners. Four versions of the questionnaire were created, with tailored question wording for the different learning context in FE, WBL, ACL and WfA.

Learner satisfaction ratings for post-16 providers in England are published on the FE Choices website. However, the survey questions and response scale are different to those used in Learner Voice Wales, therefore direct comparisons are not possible.

There were no changes to the questionnaire between 2014 and 2015, therefore 2015 data can be compared to the 2014 data collected in year two of the survey.

To allow for a more robust comparison between questions, sectors and providers, 'this does not apply to me' responses have been excluded from the question base. Percentages are calculated on all those giving a valid response only (i.e. 'very good' to 'very poor' or 'don't know'). The data for 2013 has been re-calculated using this method to allow for direct comparison between 2013, 2014 and 2015 data.

It should also be noted that ESG and League Football Education have not taken part in the 2015 survey. It should also be noted that data for Coleg Gwent FE and Cardiff and Vale College was collected by the providers and shared with Ipsos MORI for data processing.

4. Additional information

4.1. Further dissemination of results

A more detailed all-Wales report will be available on the Welsh Government website in Summer 2015.

All participating providers will receive individual benchmarked reports. These will enable providers to make detailed comparisons of their learner satisfaction rates against national averages. Estyn inspectors will also have access to these reports in order to inform their judgements on learner satisfaction.
