SECTION 1 – Introductory

Note: This introductory section does not form part of either the statute (the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document in Section 2 of this publication) or the statutory guidance (Sections 3 and 4 of this publication).

Introduction

1. The Education Act 2002 gives the Secretary of State power to issue guidance on pay and conditions matters, to which those concerned must have regard.
2. Since 2003 this publication has brought together the two key parts of the framework for the England and Wales pay arrangements – the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document ('the Document') and the statutory guidance. These may also be found at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay. The Document (Section 2 – the statute) and the guidance (Sections 3 and 4 – the statutory guidance) need to be read together to provide a complete picture of pay and conditions arrangements for teachers in England and Wales.
3. The statutory requirements for teachers' pay and conditions for maintained schools in England and Wales are set out in the Document, and schools and local authorities (LAs) must abide by these. LAs and governing bodies are required to have regard to the statutory guidance, and in respect of guidance on procedural matters a court or tribunal may take any failure to do so into account in any proceedings. Broadly speaking, this means that any party not following this guidance would need to have good reason not to do so and would need to be able to justify any departure from it.
4. There have been a number of changes to the Document since the 2006 version. As well as incorporating the pay orders made in December 2006 and June 2007, further amendments have also been made. Details of the changes since 2006 are set out in paragraph 8 below.
5. LAs and schools can find additional informative material on pay matters on Teachernet, at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay. This material includes explanatory notes on the Document, a model pay policy and model pay statements, and guidance on pay safeguarding, with examples. Hard copies of this material can be sent on request; please call 0870 0012345 or email info@dcsf.gsi.gov.uk. Other material is available at http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/management/pay_and_performance/threshold/ (threshold), http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/management/pay_and_performance/threshold/ (threshold), http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/management/pay_and_performance/threshold/ (threshold).

For general pay queries please call 0870 0012345 or email info@dcsf.gsi.gov.uk.

6. The changes to the Document which have been made since 2006 result from School Teachers' Review Body (STRB) recommendations in December 2005 and February 2007, and agreements and discussions with the Rewards and Incentives Group¹ – the national pay partners group set up following the January 2004 Agreement. The group has agreed the guidance on general pay issues in Section 3 and is continuing to meet with the aim of agreeing further matters relating to teachers' pay and conditions.
7. In addition, the Document (Section 2) and statutory guidance (Sections 3 and 4) were consulted on with all key stakeholders as part of the normal statutory consultation process.

Summary of changes to pay and conditions since 2006

8. The main changes to the Document since 2006 are as follows (paragraph references are to paragraphs in the Document):
 - pay scales bringing in a 2.5% pay award from 1 September 2007 have been incorporated (paragraphs 6.4, 17.3, 19.2, 30.1 and 38.1);
 - an increase of 2.5% in the value of the TLR1 and TLR2 ranges (paragraph 23.2) from 1 September 2007; a requirement to increase all TLRs in payment by 2.5% from 1 September 2007 (paragraph 24); and provision to increase by 2.5% from 1 September 2007 all TLRs which are in the staffing structure but which have not yet been awarded (paragraph 25);
 - an increase of 2.5% in the value of SEN allowances (paragraph 27.1);
 - the introduction of revised pay standards in England and Wales for post-threshold teachers, excellent teachers and advanced skills teachers (Annex 1);

- the removal of references in the Document to objective-setting for members of the leadership group and ASTs who are subject to performance management regulations;
- the introduction of closer links between performance management/appraisal arrangements and pay decisions (except in respect of unqualified teachers and the annual increment for main scale teachers). In Wales the changes to the Document are effective from 2007; in England they are effective from 1 September 2008 after the first reviews take place under the new English performance management regulations;
- the inclusion of Fast Track teachers in the usual working time limit for teachers of 195 days/1265 hours (which means that since no special pay or conditions arrangements now apply to Fast Track teachers², no special references are needed to them in the Document).

Amendments to section 3 and section 4 guidance

9. A number of amendments, updates and clarifications have been made to the statutory pay guidance in section 3, in line with the 2007 changes to the Document and comments made in the statutory consultation process.
10. In the statutory guidance on changes to the Document resulting from the National Agreement, in section 4, an amendment has been made to paragraph 50 concerning the expectation, first set out in 2003, that teachers and head teachers should only rarely cover for absent colleagues. The amendment provides that schools should expect to operate on the basis that teachers should rarely cover from 1 September 2009, and should set interim targets to enable them to achieve this by that date. The Government intends to consult on the introduction from 1 September 2009 of a statutory provision which would have the effect that teachers and head teachers rarely cover from that date.
11. In addition, a minor amendment has been made to paragraph 79 of section 4 to state that teachers should be present in the exam room only when they have the permission of the Head of Centre (usually the head teacher in schools).

² Except for the reference at paragraph 18.1.4 which is to cover those teachers who joined the Fast Track programme via the initial teacher training route prior to 1 September 2006 but who have not yet started teaching.

Professional Standards for Teachers in England from September 2007³

Introduction

Bringing coherence to the professional and occupational standards for the whole school workforce

1. The framework of professional standards for teachers⁴ will form part of a wider framework of standards for the whole school workforce. This includes the Training and Development Agency for Schools' (TDA) review of the occupational standards for teaching/classroom assistants and the professional standards for higher level teaching assistants in consultation with social partners and other key stakeholders and a review of leadership standards informed by the independent review of the roles and responsibilities of head teachers and the leadership group.

What these standards cover

2. The framework of professional standards for teachers defines the characteristics of teachers at each career stage. Specifically it provides professional standards for:
 - the award of Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) (Q)
 - teachers on the main scale (Core) (C)
 - teachers on the upper pay scale (Post-Threshold Teachers) (P)
 - Excellent Teachers (E)
 - Advanced Skills Teachers (ASTs) (A)
3. Professional standards are statements of a teacher's professional attributes, professional knowledge and understanding, and professional skills. They provide clarity of the expectations at each career stage. The standards are not to be confused with and do not replace the professional duties contained in this Document, which set out the roles and responsibilities of teachers.

3 The framework as a whole applies in England only. The standards for Post-Threshold Teachers, Excellent Teachers and ASTs are pay standards (as set out in Annex 1 of the Document in Section 2) and apply in England and Wales.

4 The framework can be found at www.tda.gov.uk/standards.

4. The framework of standards below is arranged in three interrelated sections covering:
 - a. professional attributes
 - b. professional knowledge and understanding
 - c. professional skills

How the standards will be used

5. The standards provide the framework for a teacher's career and clarify what progression looks like. As now, to access each career stage a teacher will need to demonstrate that he/she has met the relevant standards. The process for this varies depending on the standard concerned. Teachers seeking Excellent Teacher or AST status need to apply and be assessed through an external assessment process. Teachers seeking to cross the threshold are assessed by their head teacher. The standards for Post-Threshold Teachers, Excellent Teachers and ASTs are pay standards and teachers who are assessed as meeting them also access the relevant pay scale.
6. The standards clarify the professional characteristics that a teacher should be expected to maintain and to build on at their current career stage. After the induction year, therefore, teachers would be expected to continue to meet the core standards and to broaden and deepen their professional attributes, knowledge, understanding and skills within that context. This principle applies at all subsequent career stages. So, for example, teachers who have gone through the threshold would be expected to meet the core and post-threshold standards and to broaden and deepen their professional attributes, knowledge, understanding and skills in that context. There are no new criteria for pay progression for teachers paid on the upper pay scale in this Document.
7. The standards will support teachers in identifying their professional development needs. Where teachers wish to progress to the next career stage, the next level of the framework provides a reference point for all teachers when considering future development. Whilst not all teachers will necessarily want to move to the next career stage, the standards will also support teachers in identifying ways to broaden and deepen their expertise within their current career stages.

8. All teachers should have a professional responsibility to be engaged in effective, sustained and relevant professional development throughout their careers and all teachers should have a contractual entitlement to effective, sustained and relevant professional development throughout their careers. There should be a continuum of expectations about the level of engagement in professional development that provides clarity and appropriate differentiation for each career stage. The expectations about the contribution teachers make to the development of others should take account of their levels of skills, expertise and experience, their role within the school, and reflect their use of up-to-date subject knowledge and pedagogy.⁵
9. In all these cases, performance management is the key process. Performance management provides the context for regular discussions about teachers' career aspirations and their future development, within or beyond their current career stage. The framework of professional standards will provide a backdrop to discussions about how a teacher's performance should be viewed in relation to their current career stage and the career stage they are approaching. The relevant standards should be looked at as a whole in order to help teachers identify areas of strength and areas for further professional development. For example, a teacher who aspires to become an AST will need to reflect on and discuss how they might plan their future development so they can work towards becoming an AST, and performance management would provide evidence for the teacher's future application.
10. All qualified teachers in maintained schools and non-maintained special schools are required to be registered with the GTCE. To maintain registration they must uphold the GTCE's Code of Conduct and Practice for Registered Teachers.
11. The recommendation for the award of qualified teacher status and registration with the GTCE is made by an accredited Initial Teacher Training (ITT) provider following an assessment which shows that all of the QTS standards have been met. The newly qualified teacher (NQT) may then begin the induction period. NQTs will not be required to meet fully the core standards until the end of their induction period. The core standards underpin all the subsequent standards and, where there is no progression at subsequent career stages, are valid at all points of teachers' careers within both their immediate workplace and the wider professional context in which they work. Each set of standards builds on the previous set, so that a teacher being considered for the threshold would need to satisfy the post-threshold standards (P) and meet the core standards (C); a teacher aspiring to become an Excellent Teacher would need to satisfy the standards that are specific to that status (E) and meet the preceding standards (C and P); and a teacher aspiring to become an AST would need to satisfy the standards that are specific to that status (A) as well as meet the preceding standards (C, P and E) – although they can apply for an AST post before going through the threshold. In practice, the standards relating to the excellence of their own teaching are common to ASTs and Excellent Teachers, the three additional AST standards are focused on their ability to carry out their work with other schools and on their leadership role.

12. The framework of standards is progressive, reflecting the progression expected of teachers as their professional attributes, knowledge and understanding and skills develop and they demonstrate increasing effectiveness in their roles. Post-threshold Teachers are able to act as role models for teaching and learning, make a distinctive contribution to raising standards across the school, continue to develop their expertise post-threshold and provide regular coaching and mentoring to less experienced teachers. Excellent Teachers provide an exemplary model to others through their professional expertise, have a leading role in raising standards by supporting improvements in teaching practice and support and help their colleagues to improve their effectiveness and to address their development needs through highly effective coaching and mentoring. ASTs provide models of excellent and innovative teaching and use their skills to enhance teaching and learning by undertaking and leading school improvement activities and continuing professional development (CPD) for other teachers. They carry out developmental work across a range of workplaces and draw on the experience they gain elsewhere to improve practice in their own and other schools.
13. All the standards are underpinned by the five key outcomes for children and young people identified in Every Child Matters and the six areas of the Common core of skills and knowledge for the children's workforce. The work of practising teachers should be informed by an awareness, appropriate to their level of experience and responsibility, of legislation concerning the development and well-being of children and young people expressed in the Children Act 2004, the Disability Discrimination Acts 1995 and 2005 and relevant associated guidance, the special educational needs provisions in the Education Act 1996 and the associated Special Educational Needs: Code of Practice (DfES 2001), the Race Relations Act 1976 as amended by the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000, and the guidance Safeguarding children in education (DfES 2004).

14. The professional standards must operate in the context of teachers' legal rights and contractual entitlements.
15. Nothing in the professional standards militates against teachers taking lawful industrial action.

Note on the terminology used in the standards

- The term 'learners' is used instead of 'children and young people' when learning per se is the main focus of the standard. It refers to all children and young people including those with particular needs, for example, those with special educational needs, looked after children, those for whom English is an additional language, those who are not reaching their potential or those who are gifted and talented.
- The term 'colleagues' is used for all those professionals with whom a teacher might work. It encompasses teaching colleagues, the wider workforce within an educational establishment, and also those from outside with whom teachers may be expected to have professional working relationships, for example early years and health professionals and colleagues working in children's services.
- The term 'classroom' is used to encompass all the settings within and beyond the workplace where teaching and learning take place.
- The term 'workplace' refers to the range of educational establishments, contexts and settings (both in and outside the classroom) where teaching takes place.

- The term 'subjects/curriculum areas' is used to cover all forms of organised learning experienced across the curriculum. For example, areas of learning in the foundation stage, broad areas of curricular experience and learning through play in the early years, thematically structured work in the primary phase, single subjects, vocational subjects and cross-curricular work in the 14–19 phase.
- The terms 'lessons' or 'sequences of lessons' are used to cover teaching and learning activities wherever they take place, whatever their nature and length, and however they might be organised, and are applicable to all educational phases and contexts.
- Where the phrase 'parents and carers' is used, it is understood that the term 'parents' includes both mothers and fathers.
- The term 'well-being' refers to the rights of children and young people (as set out, and consulted upon in the Every Child Matters Green Paper and subsequently set out in the Children Act 2004), in relation to:
 - physical and mental health and emotional well-being
 - protection from harm and neglect
 - education, training and recreation
 - the contribution made by them to society
 - social and economic well-being
- The term 'personalised learning' means maintaining a focus on individual progress, in order to maximise all learners' capacity to learn, achieve and participate. This means supporting and challenging each learner to achieve national standards and gain the skills they need to thrive and succeed throughout their lives. 'Personalising learning' is not about individual lesson plans or individualisation (where learners are taught separately or largely through a one-to-one approach).

Standards for Teachers in Wales

It should be noted that the framework for professional standards outlined in the above box is not applicable to teachers in Wales.

However, the statutory pay standards that form part of the framework for post-threshold, excellent and Advanced Skills Teachers set out in annex 1 of the Document (section 2) are applicable to teachers in both England and Wales – see the statutory pay guidance (section 3) for further guidance.

This means that the position for teachers in Wales is:

- The setting of Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) standards is the responsibility of the Welsh Assembly Government. The QTS standards are set out in legislation which can be accessed at: <http://new.wales.gov.uk/legislation/legislationinforce/210923/EducaWales1/2006/QTSSStandards2006e?lang=en>
- The setting of the End of Induction Standard for Newly Qualified Teachers is also the responsibility of the Welsh Assembly Government. The standard and relevant guidance (circular 21/2006) can be accessed at: www.opsi.gov.uk/legislation/wales/wsi2005/20051818e.htm
- Post-threshold teachers, excellent teachers and Advanced Skills teachers – pay standards as contained within the Schools Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document 2007;
- The Welsh Assembly Government has also made the National Professional Qualification for Headship (NPQH) mandatory for all headteachers taking up their first substantive head teacher post from September 2005. A copy of the regulations can be accessed at: <http://www.wales-legislation.hms.gov.uk/legislation/wales/w-stat.htm>

SECTION 2 – School Teachers’ Pay and Conditions Document 2007

This Document contains provisions relating to the statutory conditions of employment of school teachers in England and Wales and has been prepared by the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families in anticipation of an order being made by him under section 122 of the Education Act 2002 (“the Act”)(¹). That Order refers to this Document and directs that its provisions shall have effect in accordance with it pursuant to section 124(3) of the Act. The anticipated order will be the Education (School Teachers’ Pay and Conditions) Order 2007 (“the Order”).

This Document relates to teachers employed by a local education authority or by the governing body of a foundation, voluntary aided, or foundation special school (other than a school to which an order made under section 128(2) of the Act applies) in the provision of primary or secondary education (otherwise than in an establishment maintained by a local authority in the exercise of a social services function).

When the Order comes into force, this Document will from 1st September 2007 replace the 2006 Document given effect by the Education (School Teachers’ Pay and Conditions) (No.2) Order 2006(²).

whichever is the first to occur.

26.6 The safeguarded sum shall be reduced by the value of any subsequent TLR awarded to the teacher by the relevant body from time to time and in the case where the subsequent TLR is awarded to a teacher whilst he occupies another post in the temporary absence of the post-holder, restored upon the expiry of the period of that

SECTION 3: Guidance on School Teachers' Pay and Conditions (general)

1. The guidance in this section, which relates to general pay matters, and the guidance on the National Agreement (Section 4) should be read in conjunction with any related paragraphs of the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document 2007 ('the Document'), and overall in relation to paragraph 1.9 of the Document which explains the basis on which local authorities (LAs), governing bodies and others must have regard to the guidance.
2. Paragraph references in this guidance relate, except where otherwise stated, to paragraph numbers in the Document. The term 'relevant body' denotes the body (either governing body or LA) which is responsible for pay decisions.
3. This guidance has been agreed by the Rewards and Incentives Group, as described in paragraph 6 of Section 1.

General Principles

4. No payments or conditions of employment other than those provided for in the Document may be applied to teachers, except those conditions which are always determined locally and which do not conflict with the Document, unless the Secretary of State has granted exemptions under other legislation. The Document does not provide for the payment of so-called 'honoraria' in any circumstances.
5. A teacher's working week does not include Saturdays, Sundays or Bank Holidays, unless, exceptionally, his or her contract expressly provides for this, such as in the case of teachers at residential establishments.

Pay policy and grievance procedures (paragraph 3)

Pay policy

6. All relevant bodies – both governing bodies and LAs where they are the relevant body – must have a pay policy. This should be linked to the performance management¹ system. It should be reviewed annually and be kept up to date to take into account any legal changes or changes in the staffing structure which have an impact on discretionary pay decisions. Teachers and representatives of recognised unions should always be consulted on formulating the policy and on any changes to it. Teachers should always have ready access to copies of the relevant body's pay policy. Relevant bodies should be aware of the model pay policy which is available at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay.

(1) There should be a transparent and fair process in place to ensure that the outcomes of performance management are used to inform pay decisions. Further information and guidance is available for England at <http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/performanceandmanagement/> and for Wales at http://new.wales.gov.uk/topics/educationandskills/publications/guidance_and_information/performance-man-for-teachers?lang=en.

7. The Education (School Teacher Performance Management) (England) Regulations 2006 are in force from 1st September 2007 but the revised performance management arrangements introduced by those Regulations will only affect pay decisions implemented after 31st August 2008, so it will not be necessary for relevant bodies to amend their pay policy in the light of these new arrangements until 1 September 2008. The revised performance management arrangements do not apply to Wales.
8. The School Teachers' Appraisal Regulations 2002 ("the 2002 Regulations") apply to teachers in Wales. The Regulations provide for the appraisal of the performance of school teachers (including unqualified teachers) at maintained schools in Wales with the exception of those employed in non-standard settings, those teachers on contracts of less than a year, centrally employed teachers, teachers at pupil referral units, nursery school teachers and peripatetic teachers. For teachers in Wales who are not covered by the 2002 Regulations, relevant bodies should ensure that they review the performance of teachers on an annual basis where applicable for pay progression purposes.
9. The Freedom of Information Act 2000 requires all public authorities to make information available proactively through their publication scheme. LAs and governing bodies should consider whether pay policies should be included in their publication schemes, having regard to the public interest in allowing public access to information, as required by the Act. They must, under the Act, make copies available on demand.
10. Procedures for determining pay must comply with all the requirements of discrimination legislation. The pay policy should therefore make clear the relevant body's compliance with the following legislation, as amended, the Race Relations Act 1976, the Sex Discrimination Acts 1975 and 1986, the Equal Pay Act 1970, the Employment Relations Act 1999 and the Disability Discrimination Act 1995, the Part-Time Worker (Prevention of Less Favourable Treatment) Regulations 2000 and the Fixed-Term Employees (Prevention of Less Favourable Treatment) Regulations 2002, the Employment Equality (Sexual Orientation) Regulations 2003, the Employment Equality (Religion or Belief) Regulations 2003 and the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations 2006. Procedures for determining pay should also be consistent with the principles of public life – objectivity, openness and accountability.

11. The pay policy should set out how all pay decisions are made, either as part of a regular review or in other circumstances, with sufficient detail for an individual to appreciate what evidence and other factors will be taken into consideration when a pay decision is made. In particular, the pay policy should describe the information to be included on pay statements given to teachers as part of the regular review process, or when other pay decisions are taken, and how additional information may be obtained by teachers. Relevant bodies should be aware of the model pay statements which are available at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay.
12. Where decisions relate to pay reviews, the policy must also specify the date by which such decisions must be made. (See also paragraph 19 below.) The policy should also take account of special circumstances such as absence on maternity or long-term sick leave, and the relevant body's approach to covering such situations in respect of the timing of pay reviews.
13. The pay policy should set out the principles by which the relevant body will exercise its discretion in pay matters. The relevant body should ensure that the effects of the application of those principles are reasonable in each case.
14. Relevant bodies should keep their staffing structure under review. The pay policy should be revised in accordance with decisions taken from time to time, following consultation, in relation to the staffing structure, and a copy of the structure and implementation plan (required under the Education (Review of Staffing Structure) (England) Regulations 2005 and the Education (Review of Staffing Structure) (Wales) Regulations 2005) should be attached to the published copy of the pay policy. It is particularly important that the pay policy sets out the value of any Teaching and Learning Responsibility (TLR) payments attached to posts included in the staffing structure. Relevant bodies should ensure that all posts to which TLRs are attached meet the criteria for the award of TLRs (see paragraphs 62 – 67 below), that the cash value is determined by the particular responsibilities required by each such post and that equal pay legislation is respected.

Pay hearings and appeals

15. The pay policy must also set out the procedures that apply when any teacher seeks a review of any decision made by the head teacher or relevant body that affects his or her pay. A hearing and appeals procedure is included in the model pay policy at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay. Hearings and appeals against pay decisions must meet the dispute resolution requirements of employment law, in accordance with section 29 and Schedule 2 to the Employment Rights Act 2002 (further information is at www.berr.gov.uk/employment/Resolving_disputes/index.html).
16. Any teacher seeking a reconsideration of a pay decision should first seek to resolve the matter informally through discussion with the decision-maker within ten working days of notification of the decision. Where this is not possible or the matter is still unresolved, the teacher may follow the formal grievance process by setting out their concerns in writing to the decision-maker within ten working days of the notification of the decision or the outcome of the informal discussion.
17. The committee or person who made the decision should provide a hearing within ten working days to consider the teacher's concerns. The teacher should be informed in writing of the decision and the right to appeal. Any appeal against the decision of the hearing should be heard by a panel of three governors who were not involved in the original determination, normally within 20 working days of the written appeal notification. The teacher should be given the opportunity to make representations in person at both the hearing and the appeal and to be accompanied by a friend or union representative (www.berr.gov.uk/employment/trade-union-rights/trade-unions/grievance-hearings/page16831.html). The decision of the appeal panel should be given in writing, and where the appeal is rejected include a note of the evidence considered and the reasons for the decision.
18. The pay hearings and appeals procedure performs the function of the grievance procedure on pay matters and therefore decisions should not be reopened under general grievance procedures. Appeal decisions do not affect teachers' statutory employment rights.

Timing of salary determination and notification (paragraph 4)

19. Relevant bodies should conduct teachers' annual pay reviews without undue delay. The pay policy should set out the date by which decisions (effective from 1 September each year) will be made (see paragraph 12 above), which should be by 31 October at latest, except in the case of head teachers for whom the deadline is 31 December. However, where decisions are actually made earlier than the date set, these should be notified to the teacher at the earliest opportunity.
20. Where a review of the staffing structure has had or is likely to have an impact on the pay of any teacher, a revised pay statement should be issued as soon as possible (and in any event within one month of the relevant body's determination). Relevant bodies should take particular care to notify teachers of likely changes to their pay at the earliest opportunity because teachers must be informed of any pay safeguarding implications resulting from the revisions. Relevant bodies should ensure that teachers are given full information about the safeguarding rules with the revised pay statement, to enable teachers to calculate the likely longer-term position in relation to their own pay. (A guidance note on the rules is at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay.)

Teachers paid a safeguarded sum (paragraph 5)

21. The relevant body must review the duties of any teachers who are entitled to safeguarded sums that in total exceed £500 (excluding generally safeguarded recruitment and retention payments) and allocate appropriate additional responsibilities, commensurate with the safeguarded sum, for the period of safeguarding (see paragraph 5.1). The relevant body should ensure that appropriate notice is given of any new duties which are being given to the teacher as work commensurate with their safeguarded sum or sums. All such additional responsibilities allocated should be kept under review.
22. The relevant body should ensure that all teachers who are or will be in receipt of safeguarded sums are aware that if they unreasonably refuse to carry out such additional duties, payment of the safeguarded sums will cease. The teacher must be given written notice of any determination to withdraw a safeguarded sum at least one month before it is implemented and should be given notice of such a determination at the earliest opportunity. Any such determination is subject to appeal in the usual way.

23. Relevant bodies should be aware of the general principle set out in paragraph 5.2. This requires the relevant body to consider whether a teacher's new pay point or new allowance has caused the teacher's pay to increase by as much as or more than the value of their previous point and any safeguarded sum they were receiving. (Changes in the value of allowances or of pay points which result from the provisions of the Document are excluded².) If a range of safeguarded elements is being paid, 'safeguarded sum' does not mean the total of all safeguarded elements, but any safeguarded element within the total. The safeguarding guidance at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay gives further information.
24. Where any such increase is larger than any safeguarded sum, the relevant body must cease to pay any sum or sums equal to or less than the increase. If there is a decision needed as to which sum or sums to cease paying, the relevant body should always cease paying the smaller or smallest sum first, followed by the next smallest, at any time when necessary to ensure that the principle is correctly applied.
25. Relevant bodies should note that paragraph 5.3 sets out the provisions for determining the latest end date for safeguarding of TLRs and for members of the leadership group, ASTs and excellent teachers who are subject to safeguarding under paragraphs 26 or 48. In such cases, safeguarding ends on the third anniversary of one of three set dates, in accordance with when the relevant body make their determination (see safeguarding guidance at www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for more information).

Leadership Group Pay (paragraphs 6-16)

Individual school range

26. Relevant bodies should assign a school to a head teacher group and determine the individual school range (ISR) whenever they propose to appoint a new head teacher. They should also re-determine the ISR if they change the head teacher group in any other circumstances or if they set a deputy or assistant head teacher pay range which overlaps with the ISR. They may determine the ISR as of

(2) Generally this means increases resulting from pay awards following recommendations of the School Teachers' Review Body.

- 1 September 2007 or at any time if they consider it necessary to retain a head teacher.
27. When determining the ISR, within the permitted parameters set out in paragraph 12, the relevant body should take account of any difficulties there may be in recruiting and retaining a head teacher and whether there has been a significant change in the responsibilities of the head teacher. The relevant body should not take account of the salary of the serving head teacher if they re-determine the ISR.
 28. When determining the actual salary of a new head teacher, relevant bodies should take account of the responsibilities of the post, the background of the pupils at the school and whether the post is difficult to fill.
 29. The relevant body should determine the pay range for deputies and assistant heads when they propose to make new appointments or where there is a significant change in the responsibilities of serving deputy or assistant heads. They should take account of the responsibilities of the post, the background of the pupils at the school and whether the post is difficult to fill. They may determine the pay range as of 1 September 2007 or at any time if they consider it necessary to retain a deputy or assistant head teacher.
 30. Relevant bodies should ensure that they review the performance of members of the leadership group, where they are not subject to the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations³, in accordance with paragraphs 7, 13 or 15 as applicable. For all teachers relevant bodies should take full account of the clarification of the application of the criteria for leadership group progression set out in the following box, in the light of any considerations set out in the relevant body's own pay policy as referred to in paragraphs 11 – 13 above. From 1 September 2008, for teachers in England who are subject to the 2006 Regulations, relevant bodies must have regard to any recommendation on pay progression recorded in the teacher's most recent planning and review statement.

(3) In 2007 this will be all teachers in England and those teachers in Wales not subject to performance management.

Application of Leadership Group Pay Progression Criteria – Clarification

Those on the leadership spine play a critical role in the life of the school. They inspire confidence in those around them and work with others to create a shared strategic vision which motivates pupils and staff. They take the lead in enhancing standards of teaching and learning and value enthusiasm and innovation in others. They have the confidence and ability to make management and organisational decisions and ensure equity, access and entitlement to learning.

To achieve progression, the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document (STPCD) requires individuals on the leadership spine to have demonstrated sustained high quality performance. To be fair and transparent, judgements must be properly rooted in evidence and there must have been a successful review of overall performance.

A successful performance review, as prescribed by the Regulations⁴, will involve a performance management process of:

- performance objectives;
- classroom observation (where relevant);
- other evidence.

To ensure that there has been high quality performance, the performance review will need to assess that the teacher has grown professionally by developing their leadership and (where relevant) teaching expertise.

Pay scale for classroom teachers (paragraph 18)

31. Although there are new provisions in the Document, setting out closer links between performance management and pay progression, and revised pay standards, relevant bodies should note that the provisions for main pay scale progression under paragraph 18.1.1(b) remain unchanged.
32. In relation to main scale teachers, however, there is one change in respect of discretionary points for excellence. The relevant body may award an additional point to any main scale teacher whose performance in the previous school year was excellent, with particular regard to classroom teaching. Where the teacher is subject to the 2002 Regulations (in Wales) or the 2006 Regulations (in England) this decision will follow the most recent appraisal/review⁵. With effect from 1 September 2008, for teachers in England who are subject to the 2006 Regulations, relevant bodies must have regard to any recommendation on pay progression recorded in the teacher's most recent planning and review statement.

Review of the salary of post-threshold teachers

33. For those teachers not subject to the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations⁶, relevant bodies should ensure that they review the performance of post-threshold teachers who are eligible for consideration for movement up the upper pay scale in accordance with the criteria in paragraph 19. For those teachers subject to the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations, when considering whether the teacher meets the criteria in paragraph 19 the relevant body must have regard to the results of the two most recent appraisals or reviews carried out in accordance with the 2001 Regulations, the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations. For all teachers relevant bodies should take full account of the clarification of the application of the criteria for upper pay scale progression set out in the following box, in the light of any considerations set out in the relevant body's own pay policy as referred to in paragraphs 11 – 13 above. Where teachers have moved school in the assessment period, the head teacher should consult with the head of the teacher's previous school to seek evidence as to the teacher's suitability for progression.
34. Relevant bodies have discretion under paragraph 19.3.3 to determine the point on the upper pay scale to which certain categories of post-threshold teachers may be appointed. When doing so, relevant bodies should consider any pay progression which such teachers made in their previous employment which was based on an assessment of standards and contribution comparable to the requirements for progression on the upper pay scale; and should not unreasonably withhold appointment at the equivalent point on the upper pay scale.

(5) In 2007 this will be all teachers in England and those teachers in Wales not subject to performance management.

(6) In 2007 this will be all teachers in England and those teachers in Wales not subject to performance management.

Application of Upper Pay Scale Progression Criteria – Clarification

UPS3 teachers play a critical role in the life of the school. They provide a role model for teaching and learning, make a distinctive contribution to the raising of pupil standards and contribute effectively to the work of the wider team. They take advantage of appropriate opportunities for professional development and use the outcomes effectively to improve pupils' learning.

The following paragraphs refer to all teachers seeking to progress on the Upper Pay Scale.

To achieve progression, the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document (STPCD) requires that the achievements of post-threshold teachers and their contribution to school(s) should have been substantial and sustained. To be fair and transparent, judgements must be properly rooted in evidence and there must have been a successful review of overall performance.

Progression on UPS should be based on two successful consecutive performance management reviews, other than under the exceptional circumstances as set out in the STPCD.

A successful performance review as prescribed by the Regulations⁷ involves a performance management process of

- performance objectives;
- classroom observation;
- other evidence.

To ensure that the achievements and contribution have been substantial and sustained, that performance review will need to assess that the teacher has:

- continued to meet post-threshold standards; and
- grown professionally by developing their teaching expertise post threshold.

7 See footnote 4.

Transitional arrangements for post-threshold teachers on U4 and U5 (paragraph 20)

35. On 1 April 2005 the arrangements under which the small number of teachers awarded points U4 or U5 before 1 September 2004 are paid were amended. Instead of having their pay frozen until the value of the U3 point overtakes it, former U4 and U5 teachers are treated as if they are on point U3 and receive pay rises appropriate for the area in which they serve⁸. They also receive the difference between the 1 April 2004 value of point U3 for the area in which they were serving on 31 March 2005 and their former U4/U5 point safeguarded as a cash sum for three years from 1 April 2005, provided they continue to serve as a post-threshold teacher. Safeguarding under this paragraph will end on 31 March 2008.
36. If such a teacher serves as a member of the leadership group, as an advanced skills teacher or as an excellent teacher in the temporary absence of the postholder, this safeguarding is discontinued during this period but is restored on their return to U3, unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 20.

Assessment against the post-threshold standards (paragraph 21)

Role of the relevant body in assessment against the post-threshold standards

37. The relevant body has legal responsibility for the threshold process. However, it is required to delegate the receipt and assessment of applications to the head teacher (or person with management responsibility in the case of unattached teachers). That person should handle all practical aspects of the process, including the giving of feedback to applicants.
38. The head teacher (or person with management responsibility in the case of unattached teachers) should promptly notify the relevant body of his or her decision on the application when it has been assessed. The relevant body, on receiving notification of a successful threshold application, is under a duty to move the teacher concerned to U1 in accordance with paragraph 19 of the Document. For guidance and an explanatory table on payment dates, relevant bodies should refer to the "Threshold Assessment 2007/08, Round 8 Guidance" (<http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/management/payandperformance/threshold/>).

(8) That is, Inner London, Outer London, the Fringe, or the rest of England and Wales.

Revised professional standards for teachers in England

39. As provided in Annex 1 to the Document, the revised standards for post-threshold teachers come into effect for pay purposes from 1 September 2007. In England, these standards are part of a new framework of professional standards which is intended to help teachers as they plan their careers and discuss their future development with their line managers. The standards provide a backdrop to discussions about how a teacher's performance should be viewed in relation to their current career stage and the career stage they are approaching.
40. Within the framework the standards are designed to be cumulative and progressive. The core standards underpin all the subsequent standards and continue to apply at all subsequent career stages. Each set of standards builds on the previous set, so that a teacher being assessed against the post-threshold standards must also meet the core standards. Where teachers are subject to performance management, assessment that a teacher meets the core standards is carried out through the performance management process.

Standards for teachers in Wales

41. As provided in Annex 1 of the Document, the revised standards for post-threshold teachers come into effect for pay purposes from 1 September 2007. The framework as a whole, as set out in section 1, applies in England only. The standards for post-threshold teachers, Excellent Teachers and ASTs are pay standards and apply in England and Wales. Responsibility for setting non-pay standards rests with the Welsh Assembly Government.

Applications, Evidence Period and Absence

42. Assessment is a voluntary process and entirely a matter of choice for individuals. Teachers are responsible for applying for assessment and they must apply to the headteacher of the school or setting at which they are employed to teach (or head of service if applicable).
43. It is the teacher's responsibility to provide summarised evidence – in the form of concrete examples from their day-to-day work – in support of an application. This evidence should be as recent as possible and clearly demonstrate that the teacher has worked at the level indicated by the post-threshold standards for a sustained period immediately before the application is submitted. Normally, the evidence should cover the two years leading up to and ending at the date of their application. In certain circumstances (see paragraph 44 below), evidence collated over a period of up to five years can be taken into account. The evidence of teaching should be taken from all educational settings where the applicant has taught children of school age (up to 19 years of age). A year for the purposes of evidence for post-threshold standards is defined in paragraph 1.8 of the Document and it permits certain periods of absence to be counted towards the period of a year.

44. Teachers who have not been teaching children up to 19 years of age in the two years immediately preceding their application and who are not covered by the specific absences defined in paragraph 1.8 of the Document, or where the relevant body does not exercise its discretion to recognise the absence, but who have worked for an aggregate period of at least two years in the five years preceding their application, should cite evidence from the most recent two year period (or an aggregate) ending at the point when they last taught children up to 19 years of age. They should not cite evidence more than five years old.
45. The absences not covered by paragraph 1.8 of the Document could be as a result of the teacher being an individual who had taught entirely outside the maintained or school sector, as a result of secondment, study leave, or because they took a career break for reasons other than those specifically covered by paragraph 1.8 and regardless of whether the break was in-service or not.

Feedback

All Teachers – returning the application form and oral feedback

46. From September 2007 head teachers must use a different procedure in relation to assessment against the post-threshold standards. The post-threshold standards are set out in Annex 1 of the Document. Before the head teacher assesses whether the teacher meets these standards he or she must first be satisfied, through the outcomes of performance reviews, that the teacher meets the core standards set out in Annex 1.

47. If the head teacher is satisfied, through the outcomes of performance reviews, that the teacher meets the core standards he or she must go on to assess whether the teacher meets the post-threshold standards.
 48. If the head teacher is not satisfied, through the outcomes of performance reviews, that the teacher meets the core standards he or she must reject the application and provide the teacher with a written explanation for the rejection. He or she should do this within 20 working days of informing the relevant body of the decision. In such cases no assessment will be carried out against the post-threshold standards.
 49. Having carried out an assessment against the post-threshold standards, the head teacher must notify the teacher of the outcome of that assessment and should do this within 20 working days of informing the relevant body of the decision. He or she should also return the teacher's application form to him or her, showing any findings/comments he or she may have recorded on that form.
 50. The head teacher should provide oral feedback on each of the ten post-threshold standards and the reasons for the outcome of the application.
 51. Feedback should be sensitive, informative and developmental. Feedback should link effectively to the school's performance management arrangements and should enable the teacher and his/her manager to identify clear priorities for future professional development.

Unsuccessful Applicants

52. In the case of unsuccessful applicants, head teachers should give written feedback on the reasons for the outcome of the application, in relation to each of the ten post-threshold standards, including those where the standards have been met, within 20 working days of informing the relevant body of their decision.
53. Heads should record their reasons for determining that the standard(s) have not yet been met. A record of the concise reasons for which standard has/has not been met and why, should provide sufficient written feedback, although the head may supplement this. In all cases the aim should be to give clear advice in oral feedback about how the teacher needs to develop in order to reach the standards. If in discussion with the teacher it has been necessary to amplify the comments, then the key additional points made should be confirmed in writing.

Appeals against not meeting the post-threshold standards

54. Paragraphs 15 – 18 above, which cover hearings and appeals in connection with pay determinations, also apply to decisions with regard to post-threshold standards.

Teachers who have worked in two or more schools during the evidence period

55. Teachers who cite evidence from more than one school (e.g. supply teachers who have had specific individual contracts with schools and therefore were attached to those schools, or teachers who have changed jobs) should submit their application to the relevant body of the school they are contracted to work in on the date of submission of their application.
56. That head teacher should consult with the heads of the other schools in assessing the application and those heads should participate in the assessment.

Teachers who work in two or more schools simultaneously

57. In exceptional circumstances, where a post-threshold applicant is simultaneously employed to teach at two or more schools (e.g. part-time teachers simultaneously employed in two or more schools, or supply teachers simultaneously employed in two or more schools and attached to those schools) the teacher should submit their application to the head teacher of the school at which they spend most time and the head of that school should normally assess the application, with appropriate input from the heads of the other school or schools. Where the teacher spends equal time in every school, they should submit their application to the head teacher of the school at which they have been employed the longest and the head of that school should normally be responsible for making the assessment. The assessing head should consult with the other head teachers in assessing the application and they should participate in the assessment. Where all the relevant heads agree, it is also possible for any one of them to assess the application if appropriate.

58. Teachers may make only one application, however many schools they work in. Regardless of the number of heads who contribute to the assessment, only one head should decide whether each of the standards has been met.

Allowances for classroom teachers

Safeguarding management allowances (paragraph 22)

59. Management allowances ceased to be available from 1 January 2006. Former management allowances are subject to the rules on safeguarding set out in paragraph 22 (see www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for rules). The safeguarding of all management allowances expires by 31 December 2008 at the latest and cannot be extended⁹. Fixed-period management allowances are safeguarded for no longer than the length of the fixed period originally set.
60. Relevant bodies should take account of the expiry dates of management allowances and be clear how any TLRs will be introduced alongside management allowances still being paid on a safeguarded basis.
61. If a teacher in receipt of management allowance safeguarding is awarded a TLR in the temporary absence of the postholder, or serves as a member of the leadership group, as an advanced skills teacher or as an excellent teacher in the temporary absence of the postholder, management allowance safeguarding is reduced or discontinued (as applicable) during this period but is restored at the end of the temporary period unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 22.

Teaching and Learning Responsibility payments (paragraphs 23 – 26)

62. TLRs may be awarded for undertaking a sustained responsibility in the context of the school's staffing structure that is needed to ensure continued delivery of high-quality teaching and learning. Posts to which TLRs are attached must meet the criterion and factors which are set out in paragraph 23 of the Document and summarised in the box below. The monetary values of TLRs must also be determined within the parameters in paragraph 23 and set out below.

(9) Different arrangements apply to management allowances safeguarded under former general safeguarding arrangements – see paragraph 46 of the Document and paragraphs 109-110 below.

63. The relevant body must keep under review how many leadership group posts, advanced skills teacher, excellent teacher and other posts are needed in its staffing structure and whether TLRs are an appropriate part of the structure needed to ensure the continued delivery of high-quality teaching and learning¹⁰. If TLRs are an appropriate part of that structure, the relevant body must decide how many posts should have TLRs and the appropriate cash values (updated in accordance with paragraphs 24 and 25), in the light of the criterion and factors for the award of TLR2 and TLR1 and the parameters within which the cash values may be set. The responsibility or package of responsibilities for which a TLR is awarded should be clearly set out in the job description of the post holder. Equal pay legislation must be respected in the award of TLR payments to individual teachers and relevant bodies should be aware that any decisions which are not made on objective criteria may lead to claims being made to employment tribunals.

CRITERION AND FACTORS FOR THE AWARD OF TEACHING AND LEARNING RESPONSIBILITY PAYMENTS, AND VALUES

Criterion

A Teaching and Learning Responsibility payment ("TLR") may be awarded to a classroom teacher for undertaking a sustained additional responsibility in the context of the relevant body's staffing structure for the purpose of ensuring the continued delivery of high-quality teaching and learning and for which he is made accountable. The award may be while the teacher remains in the same post or occupies another post in the temporary absence of the post-holder.

Factors

Before awarding a TLR, the relevant body must be satisfied that the teacher's duties include a significant responsibility that is not required of all classroom teachers, and that -

- is focused on teaching and learning;

(10) If a post meets the criterion and all of the factors, this does not mean automatically that the post will be graded as a TLR1. In addition, in some schools, the structure may provide for the leadership group to carry out some or all of the associated responsibilities.

- requires the exercise of a teacher's professional skills and judgement;
- requires the teacher to lead, manage and develop a subject or curriculum area; or to lead and manage pupil development across the curriculum;
- has an impact on the educational progress of pupils other than the teacher's assigned classes or groups of pupils; and
- involves leading, developing and enhancing the teaching practice of other staff.

Before awarding a TLR1, the relevant body must be satisfied that the significant responsibility referred to in the previous paragraph includes in addition line management responsibility for a significant number of people.

Values

Having decided to award a TLR, the relevant body must determine whether to award a TLR1 or a TLR2 and its value, in accordance with its pay policy, provided that-

- the annual value of a TLR1 shall be no less than £6,829 and no greater than £11,557;
- the annual value of a TLR2 shall be no less than £2,364 and no greater than £5,778; and
- if the relevant body awards TLRs of different values to two or more teachers, the minimum difference in value between each award of a TLR1 is £1,500; and between each award of a TLR2 is £1,500.

64. Relevant bodies should determine the value of a TLR appropriate for the post, within the parameters laid down and in accordance with job weight. Posts of equal weight should be allocated equal value. Decisions to make payments above the applicable minimum level should be justifiable in relation to the level of responsibilities attached to the post. Relevant bodies should not take into account recruitment or retention issues, payments for which should only be awarded under the provisions of paragraph 53 and in accordance with the relevant body's pay policy. Changes in the value of TLRs, once set by the relevant body, should only occur for two reasons: (a) the STRB recommends, and the Secretary of State accepts and brings in a general change in the TLR values¹¹; or (b) the relevant body reviews its staffing structure and determines that the responsibilities of the post have changed materially.

65. Relevant bodies should operate in line with their reviewed staffing structure and implementation plan to introduce TLRs, as applicable, between 1 January 2006 and 31 December 2008. They should award TLRs to teachers placed in the specified posts in the staffing structure and to the cash value set out in the pay policy, uprated in accordance with paragraphs 24 and 25 of the Document. TLRs awarded to part-time teachers must be paid pro-rata at the same proportion as the teacher's part-time contract.
66. TLRs are permanent while the postholder remains in the same post in the staffing structure. A teacher may not be awarded more than one TLR. The overarching criterion for the award of TLRs includes provisions that the responsibility for which the TLR is awarded must be 'sustained' and that the TLR must be awarded 'in the context of the relevant body's staffing structure'. TLRs may only be awarded on a temporary basis where the teacher is temporarily occupying a different post in the staffing structure to which a TLR payment is attached (such as in cases of cover for secondments, maternity or sick leave or vacancies pending permanent appointment) and for the duration of that responsibility. TLRs may not be awarded in any other circumstances, for example where the responsibility is short-term or fixed-term, because such circumstances would not meet the overarching criterion, as outlined above, for the award of TLRs. The date on which the temporary award will end, or the circumstances in which it will end, must be included in the teacher's notice of a revised pay determination, as specified in paragraph 4.4(c)(iii) of the Document. A teacher who holds a TLR awarded on a temporary basis or who is on a fixed-term contract does not receive a safeguarded sum when the TLR comes to an end, unless the TLR is ended earlier than specified and their contract extends beyond the date when that TLR ends.
67. If a teacher is given a new post or revised responsibilities, then the relevant body must determine whether a different TLR (or no TLR) applies to the post, and whether the teacher is entitled to any safeguarded sum if no TLR, or a lower one, applies to the new post/revised responsibilities.

(11) From 1 September 2007 all TLRs in payment must be uprated by 2.5%, and those not yet in payment but set out in the staffing structure must be similarly uprated (as was also the case from 1 September 2006). This does not affect any management allowance safeguarding.

68. If a teacher in receipt of TLR safeguarding is awarded a TLR in the temporary absence of the postholder, or serves as a member of the leadership group, as an advanced skills teacher or as an excellent teacher in the temporary absence of the postholder, TLR safeguarding is reduced or discontinued (as applicable) during this period but is restored at the end of the temporary period unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 26.

Paragraph 27 – special educational needs allowance

69. SEN allowances may be held at the same time as TLRs. However, relevant bodies should, when keeping their staffing structures under review:
- ensure that, in the light of remodelling and the move of administrative tasks from teachers to support staff, holders of discretionary SEN allowances are not carrying out tasks that would be more appropriately undertaken by support staff;
 - consider whether, if teachers have responsibilities that meet the all the criteria for the award of TLR payments it would not be more appropriate to award a TLR payment instead of a discretionary SEN allowance of a lower value;
 - not continue to award new discretionary SEN payments solely for the purposes of recruitment and retention; and
 - ensure that any SEN responsibilities are clearly specified in individual teachers' job descriptions, and are clear in the school's published staffing structure.
70. Where a discretionary SEN allowance is awarded, as well as specifying the level, the teacher's written notification given at the time of the award should specify the reason for the award.
71. Relevant bodies should ensure that their pay policies set out clearly the basis on which SEN2 should be awarded. When considering the award of SEN2, the relevant body should in particular consider what relevant postgraduate qualifications or experience holders of SEN1 have, and whether these are being used for the benefit of the school or service. SEN2 should be awarded to all whose qualifications or experience are in line with the relevant body's policy.

Assimilation safeguarding (paragraph 28)

72. Relevant bodies should be aware of the arrangements regarding teachers subject to assimilation safeguarding. All sums payable under assimilation safeguarding arrangements as at 31 December 2005 are safeguarded on a cash basis for up to three years from 1 January 2006. See paragraphs 21 – 24 above and www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for further guidance.

Advanced Skills Teachers (paragraph 30)

Setting pay ranges

73. When setting the pay range for an AST post (paragraph 30), in addition to the provisions in paragraph 30.3, relevant bodies should also consider the following:
- the status of the grade as an alternative to posts paid on the leadership spine;
 - the need for an appropriately substantial pay increase in relation to the appointee's previous post;
 - whether the post would or may otherwise have attracted an allowance (for example, for SEN);
 - any recruitment or retention considerations; and
 - whether the appointee is a teacher of a shortage subject or a subject where there is a particular need to raise the quality of teaching and learning.
74. The relevant body should determine the pay range for ASTs when they propose to make new appointments or where there is significant change in the responsibilities of existing ASTs, for example, higher-level responsibilities such as leading a large whole-school or LA project to improve an aspect of teaching and learning; or where there are changes in the school's situation which lead to a wider review of salaries.

Reviewing performance

75. Where the teacher is not subject to the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations¹², relevant bodies should ensure that they review the performance of ASTs who are eligible for consideration for movement up their pay range in accordance with paragraph 30. For those teachers subject to the 2002 Regulations or the 2006 Regulations the relevant body must have regard to the most recent appraisal or review when considering this. From 1 September 2008, for those teachers subject to the 2006 Regulations, relevant bodies must have regard to any recommendation on pay progression recorded in the teacher's planning and review statement. For all teachers relevant bodies should take full account of the following notes on the clarification of the application of the criteria for advanced skills teacher pay progression, in the light of any considerations set out in the relevant body's own pay policy as referred to in paragraphs 11 – 13 above.

Application of Advanced Skills Teacher Pay Progression Criteria – Clarification

76. Advanced Skills Teachers play a critical role in the life of the school. Through their own excellent teaching and their work with other teachers or on whole school projects they play a leading role in enhancing the quality of teaching and learning throughout the school. Their outreach work opens the school to wider relationships which can enrich the experiences and raise the performance of both colleagues and pupils. Their outreach work also benefits and is of great value to the wider teaching community.
77. To achieve progression, the Document requires individuals on the advanced skills teacher spine to have demonstrated sustained high quality performance. To be fair and transparent, judgements must be properly rooted in evidence and there must have been a successful review of overall performance.
78. Such a performance management review must take place each year and a successful review can result in a movement of one or two points up the teacher's pay range.

(12) In 2007 this will be all teachers in England and those teachers in Wales not subject to performance management.

79. A successful performance review as prescribed by the Regulations¹³ will involve a performance management process of:
- performance objectives;
 - classroom observation;
 - other evidence.
80. To ensure that there has been high quality performance the performance review will need to assess that the teacher has grown professionally by developing their teaching expertise and their application and delivery of AST professional duties.
81. In order to take outreach work into account in determining whether there should be any movement up the AST pay spine (paragraph 30), relevant bodies should ensure that good systems are in place to monitor and evaluate this, particularly if it is organised and managed by someone outside the school, such as an LA AST co-ordinator.

Assessment against the AST or Excellent Teacher standards (paragraphs 33 and 34)

Revised professional standards for teachers in England

82. As provided in Annex 1 of the Document, the revised standards for excellent teachers and ASTs come into effect for pay purposes from 1 September 2007. For teachers in England these standards are part of a framework of professional standards which also contains standards for the award of QTS, standards for teachers on the main pay scale who have successfully completed their induction (the core standards) and standards for post-threshold teachers. Within the framework the standards are designed to be cumulative and progressive. As a result there are some standards which are only defined at one career stage but which continue to apply at all subsequent career stages. Teachers wishing to progress to a different career stage must also fulfil any relevant eligibility criteria, as well as meet the appropriate standards.

(13) See footnote 4.

Standards for teachers in Wales

83. As provided in Annex 1 of the Document, the revised standards for excellent teachers and ASTs come into effect for pay purposes from 1 September 2007. The framework as a whole, as set out in section 1, applies in England only. The standards for excellent teachers and ASTs are pay standards and apply in England and Wales. Responsibility for setting non-pay standards rests with the Welsh Assembly Government.

Applications

84. From September 2007 a different procedure applies in relation to AST and excellent teacher assessment. The head teacher must first be satisfied that the teacher meets the standards which apply to his or her current level before he or she can be assessed against the AST and/or excellent teacher standards, as the case may be. These arrangements apply to applications for assessment to take place on or after 1 September 2007.
85. A teacher who does not already hold a certificate indicating that he or she meets the AST or excellent teacher standards should submit a written application for such a certificate to the head teacher of the school at which he or she is currently employed when he applies for an AST or excellent teacher post. In the case of excellent teacher posts, a teacher is only eligible to apply for a post in a school other than the one in which he or she is currently working if he has already been assessed as meeting the excellent teacher standards.
86. If he or she is simultaneously employed at more than one school the head teachers of the schools concerned should agree which one of them is to act as the designated head teacher to carry out the head teacher's duties under paragraph 63.10. If they cannot agree, then the designated head teacher should be either the head teacher of the school at which he or she is employed for the greatest number of hours or, if there is no difference, the head teacher of the school at which he or she has been employed for longest.
87. An unattached teacher should give his or her application to his or her line manager.
88. In relation to applications for assessment on or after 1 September 2007 the head teacher should first be satisfied, by taking account of performance management reviews, that the teacher meets those standards set out in Annex 1 of the Document which apply to his or her current career stage.

89. Where the application is for an excellent teacher post, the standards which apply to his or her current career stage are the core and post-threshold standards.
90. Where the application is for an AST post, the standards which apply to his or her current career stage are:
- a. in the case of an applicant who is an Excellent Teacher, the core, post-threshold and excellent teacher standards;
 - b. in the case of an applicant who is currently paid on the upper pay spine, the core and post-threshold standards;
 - c. in the case of an applicant who is currently paid on the main scale, the core standards.
91. If the head teacher is not satisfied that the teacher meets the standards which apply to his or her current career stage he or she must reject the application and provide the teacher with a written explanation for the rejection. He or she should do this within 20 working days of receiving the application. In such cases no external assessment will be carried out.
92. If the head teacher is satisfied that the teacher meets the standards which apply to his or her current career stage set out in Annex 1 he or she should complete the application within 20 working days of receiving it, adding his or her evaluation of the extent to which the teacher meets those standards set out in Annex 1 which are to be externally assessed as set out in the table below. He or she should give the teacher a copy of the completed application promptly.

Career Stage	Application for	External assessment against
Post-Threshold Teacher	Excellent Teacher	Excellent Teacher Standards
Main scale Teacher	Advanced Skills Teacher	Post-threshold, Excellent Teacher and Advanced Skills Teacher standards
Post-Threshold Teacher	Advanced Skills Teachers	Excellent Teacher and Advanced Skills Teacher standards
Excellent Teacher	Advanced Skills Teacher	Advanced Skills Teacher standards

93. Where the teacher is employed at more than one school, the designated head teacher should consult the head teachers of the other schools at which the teacher is employed before completing the application.
94. Where a teacher applies for an excellent teacher post at the school at which he or she is employed as a teacher, the head teacher should submit the completed application to an assessor.
95. Where an unattached teacher applies for an excellent teacher post at the LA at which he or she is employed, the relevant Chief Education Officer's nominee should submit the completed application to an assessor.
96. Where a teacher applies for an AST post at the school at which he or she is employed as a teacher, the head teacher should submit the completed application to an assessor if the teacher:
- a. is selected for interview for the post; or
 - b. is selected, or recommended by the governing body, for appointment to the post without interview.
97. Where a teacher applies for an AST post at another school, the person who completed his or her application should give it to the head teacher of the school at which the post is situated. That head teacher should submit the completed application to an assessor in the above circumstances.

98. Where a teacher applies for an AST post which is not attached to a particular school, the person who completed his or her application should give it to the relevant Chief Education Officer's nominee. The nominee should submit the completed application to an assessor in the above circumstances.

Advanced Skills Teacher and Excellent Teacher Assessment

99. When making an assessment against the AST and excellent teacher standards an assessor should:

- consider the completed application;
- consider any additional evidence supplied by the applicant in support of his or her application;
- consider any additional evidence in relation to the application supplied by the head teacher or the applicant's line manager;
- observe the teacher teaching;
- interview him or her; and
- interview the head teacher or the applicant's line manager, and he or she may seek such additional evidence as he or she sees fit to demonstrate those standards.

100. When an applicant is absent from work in the exercise of his or her statutory rights to maternity, paternity, adoption or parental leave, the assessor is not required to observe the teacher teaching.

Review of AST and Excellent Teacher assessment (paragraph 35)

101. An application for a review should be made in writing and submitted to the review co-ordinator appointed by the Secretary of State within 40 working days of receipt of the decision. It should contain or refer to evidence relating to the grounds upon which review is sought.

AST Outreach

102. ASTs working in schools in special measures, causing serious concern or facing challenging circumstances may use their outreach time to carry out AST professional duties in their own school.
103. In the following exceptional circumstances ASTs may vary the normal 20% of their time spent on outreach to a minimum of 10% and a maximum of 40% of their time on outreach work:
 - where it is not possible to perform AST professional duties in relation to their own school at a time when the AST would normally be working in the school – for example because other staff are not available;
 - where it is necessary to undertake AST professional developmental activities during time normally set aside for outreach work – for example because of the timing of external events and activities;
 - when additional outreach work is undertaken in connection with a specific Departmental or National Assembly for Wales initiative; or
 - where the AST is new and inexperienced.

Paragraph 38 – Unqualified teachers

104. Relevant bodies should be aware that since 1 September 2005 any scale points awarded to unqualified teachers are permanent, whether the teacher remains in the same post or takes up a new one.
105. Unqualified teachers may not hold TLRs or SEN allowances. Relevant bodies may pay an additional allowance to an unqualified teacher if they consider that the unqualified teacher's salary is not adequate having regard to his/her responsibilities, qualifications or experience. The relevant body's pay policy should set out the way in which decisions are taken on allowances for unqualified teachers, so that there is transparency.

Paragraph 41 – Social Priority Allowance (SPA) and Inner London Area supplement (ILAS)

106. Relevant bodies should be aware of the arrangements regarding teachers in receipt of the discontinued SPA and ILAS. All SPA and ILAS sums payable at 31 December 2005 are safeguarded on a cash basis for up to three years from 1 January 2006. See paragraphs 21 – 24 above and www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for further guidance.
107. If a teacher in receipt of SPA or ILAS safeguarding serves as a member of the leadership group, as an advanced skills teacher or as an excellent teacher in the temporary absence of the postholder, SPA and ILAS safeguarding is discontinued during this period but is restored at the end of the temporary period, unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 41.

Paragraph 45 – Unattached teachers

108. LAs must take account of their pay policy and staffing structure when determining the remuneration of unattached teachers. LAs should therefore ensure that the pay policy and staffing structure are kept up to date in respect of their unattached teachers.

Paragraph 46 – General safeguarding applicable to teachers taking up post on or before 31st December 2005

109. Paragraph 46 applies to teachers who are subject to general safeguarding and started work in a new post before 1 January 2006. In addition to the longstanding provisions on the cessation of general safeguarding in paragraph 46.8 (including if the teacher refuses to accept an alternative post within the same authority), teachers' general safeguarding ceases if they move post voluntarily. In addition, should a teacher in receipt of a management allowance under general safeguarding accept a TLR which equals or exceeds the value of the management allowance, the safeguarded management allowance will end. If the value of the TLR is less than the value of the safeguarded management allowance, then only the difference between the sums will be safeguarded.
110. If a teacher in receipt of a management allowance safeguarded under general safeguarding is awarded a TLR in the temporary absence of the postholder, management allowance safeguarding is reduced or discontinued (as applicable) during this period but is restored at the end of the temporary period, unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 46.8.

Paragraph 47 – General safeguarding applicable to teachers taking up post on or after 1st January 2006

111. Separate safeguarding arrangements apply to teachers (including unattached teachers) whose general safeguarding started on or after 1 January 2006. Teachers in such cases receive as a cash sum the difference between their former salary and their new salary, safeguarded for up to three years from 1 January 2006. See paragraphs –21 – 24 above and www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for further guidance.

Paragraphs 48 and 49 – Safeguarding for members of the leadership group, advanced skills teachers and excellent teachers

112. Relevant bodies should ensure that the mandatory safeguarding arrangements are applied to members of the leadership group, ASTs or excellent teachers who are subject to loss of salary as a result of changes to the pay policy or staffing structure¹⁴ (paragraph 48) (see www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay for further guidance).
113. If a teacher in receipt of safeguarding under paragraph 48 serves as a member of the leadership group, as an advanced skills teacher or as an excellent teacher in the temporary absence of the postholder, the safeguarding is discontinued during this period but is restored at the end of the temporary period, unless it would otherwise have ceased under the provisions of paragraph 48.
114. Relevant bodies should also note the need to redetermine the safeguarded pay of heads who were subject to loss of salary before 1 September 2005 (paragraph 49).

(14) For example, the relevant body should redetermine the pay range for an AST post where there is a significant change in the responsibilities of that AST, for example, if in-school subject leadership responsibilities are removed.

Additional payments (paragraph 52)

Continuing Professional Development

115. Relevant bodies should decide which CPD activities teachers may be paid for and set an appropriate level of payment in their pay policy. Heads and governing bodies should be aware that some teachers may not wish, or be able, to attend training courses in the evenings, at weekends or during holidays, and should respect the right of individuals to make their own choice, taking proper account of equal opportunities and contractual requirements for reasonable work-life balance. Payments to full-time classroom teachers should only be made in respect of those activities undertaken outside the 1,265 hours of directed time.

Initial Teacher Training Activities

116. Relevant bodies should decide whether to make additional payments to any teacher for activities related to providing initial teacher training (ITT). Such payments may be made only for ITT which is provided as an ordinary incident in the conduct of the school. Relevant bodies should set an appropriate level of payment for ITT activities in their pay policy.
117. Teachers undertaking school-based ITT activities do so on an entirely voluntary basis (unless they are ASTs for whom this is a professional duty). Such activities might include supervising and observing teaching practice; giving feedback to students on their performance and acting as professional mentors; running seminars or tutorials on aspects of the course; and formally assessing students' competences.
118. Other aspects of ITT activities cannot be regarded as an ordinary incident in the conduct of the school. Such activities include the additional requirements of School Centred ITT (SCITT), where schools take the lead in providing ITT courses. They may include planning and preparing materials for an ITT course, and taking responsibility for the well-being and tuition of ITT students.
119. Separate non-teaching contracts of employment should be issued to cover those aspects of involvement in ITT which require the exercise of a teacher's professional skills or judgment but which go beyond activities which may be described as an ordinary incident in the conduct of the school. No teacher should routinely carry out administrative and clerical ITT-related activities. Paragraphs 6 – 13 of Section 4 set out guidance on this, linking to paragraph 72.12.3 and Annex 3 of the Document.

Out-of-School Hours Learning Activities

120. Relevant bodies should decide whether to make payments to teachers who agree to participate in out-of-school hours learning. The level of payment should be covered by the school's pay policy. Payments to full-time classroom teachers should only be made in respect of those activities undertaken outside the 1,265 hours of directed time. All agreements and payments to be made should be documented. All such activities should require the exercise of the teacher's professional skills or judgment.

Recruitment and retention incentives and benefits (paragraph 53)

121. All payments for recruitment and retention purposes must be made under the recruitment and retention incentives and benefits provisions in paragraph 53. All teachers, including head teachers and other members of the leadership group, are eligible for such payments. Payments may be offered by relevant bodies and, where they are the teacher's employer, the LA. Payments under this paragraph may only be made for recruitment and retention purposes, not for carrying out specific responsibilities or to supplement pay for other reasons, and should be in line with the relevant body's pay policy. Relevant bodies/LAs are free to determine the value of any award. New awards may only be given for a fixed period of up to three years to new teachers for recruitment purposes, and up to three years for retention purposes. Awards made for retention purposes are renewable in exceptional circumstances. The relevant body or LA should determine the nature of those circumstances as appropriate and cover this in its pay policy.
122. All relevant bodies should consider as part of their pay policy deliberations (see paragraphs 11 – 13 above):
- whether recruitment and retention incentives and benefits should be offered to new or existing teachers; and
 - if so, their nature, value, duration and the circumstances in which they will be paid.

123. Where a teacher is given an incentive or benefit under paragraph 53, written notification given at the time of the award should state:
- whether the award is for recruitment or retention;
 - the nature of the award (cash sums, travel or housing costs etc.);
 - when/how it will be paid (as applicable);
 - unless it is a 'one-off' award, the start date and duration of the incentive (taking into account that the maximum of any one award is three years); and
 - the basis for any uplifts which will be applied (as applicable).

Salary sacrifice arrangements (paragraph 55)

124. Employers may offer the salary sacrifice arrangements detailed in paragraph 55 to their employees if they choose to do so, and are encouraged to do so as the arrangements should be cost-neutral. Paragraph 55 permits teachers to participate voluntarily in such arrangements, subject to the limitations set out in the paragraph. Local authorities and governing bodies should ensure that any relevant information about such arrangements covered under paragraph 55 is passed on to teachers at their schools¹⁵, to enable the teachers freely to decide whether or not salary sacrifice is an appropriate option. Participation in salary sacrifice is voluntary on the part of teachers. Employers may not make participation in a salary sacrifice arrangement a precondition for making an offer of employment to a prospective employee, or a precondition for promotion or some other advantage for an existing employee, nor may they withhold access from those wishing to participate.

(15) Please note that a form for teachers to register an interest in salary sacrifice with their employers, together with a note providing further guidance and links to sources of general information on salary sacrifice, is available on Teachernet at <http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/pay>.

SECTION 4: Guidance on changes to the Document resulting from the National Agreement

1. This section of the guidance relates to the changes to the School Teachers' Pay and Conditions Document (the Document) arising from the National Agreement on Raising Standards and Tackling Workload (the National Agreement). It has been agreed and endorsed by the signatories to that Agreement, who believe that the changes are helping to reduce teacher workload and raise standards by freeing teachers to focus on teaching and learning. The signatories are committed to keeping the implementation of all aspects of the National Agreement under review.

2003 CHANGES

ADMINISTRATIVE AND CLERICAL TASKS

Purpose of the provisions

3. Teachers need support so that they can focus on teaching and learning and expect administrative and clerical processing normally to be done by support staff and/or through more effective use of ICT. These provisions ensure that teachers cannot routinely be required to undertake administrative and clerical tasks.
4. The contractual changes apply to all teachers at a school, including teachers on the leadership spine and ASTs whether on permanent, fixed term or temporary contracts and to teachers on part-time contracts.
5. The contract for headteachers never contained a duty to perform this type of task. However, some headteachers often felt obliged to undertake such work. That was a distraction from their leadership role. They should now have identified any tasks which are no longer necessary and delegated those which should be more appropriately carried out by members of the school support staff.

Defining administrative and clerical tasks

6. Some administrative tasks are straightforward – filing pupil records, recording absence data and collecting money. Others, such as administering examinations, ordering equipment and compiling and submitting bids require more expertise, but not necessarily that of a teacher.
7. Many activities in schools require a mixture of professional and administrative input. For example, writing reports on pupils' progress requires the expertise of a teacher. But that expertise is not required for many of the processes involved in producing the report – for example, “topping and tailing” reports or collating them either manually or using an ICT-based system. These elements should not routinely be done by teachers.
8. For the purposes of paragraph 72.12.3, the key tests for any task must be:
 - a) Does it need to be done at all?
 - b) Is the task of an administrative or clerical nature?
 - c) Does it call for the exercise of a teacher's professional skills or judgment?
9. If the answers to a) and b) are yes but the answer to c) is no, then the task should not be carried out by a teacher. The list at Annex 3 in the Document contains a number of examples. It is not intended to be exhaustive.

“Routinely required”

10. Tasks do not have to be done on a daily basis to be classed as routine. Many tasks, such as collating reports, may only be done once per year – this would still be classed as routine.
11. Schools should ensure that their administrative systems provide appropriate support for teachers. It is important that teachers make good use of that support. This requires good organisation of administrative activities by all school staff – it would be unreasonable, for example, for a teacher to ask for large bulk photocopying jobs to be done immediately before a lesson. Schools must ensure that the administrative system in place is robust enough to meet the continuing needs of the remodelling agenda, and that it is clearly understood by both those who use it and those who provide it.

12. The changes reflected in these legal provisions are not mechanistic or about narrow issues of job demarcation. They are about teacher time being more exclusively devoted to high quality professional teaching tasks.
13. Consequently, teachers should not be given the option to “choose” to do administrative and clerical work. It is not an appropriate use of teacher time. Head teachers should ensure that administrative and clerical tasks are not carried out by teachers, even where this involves a difficult adjustment for some teachers. Teachers’ professional responsibilities are paramount and, in order to achieve the objective of raising standards and tackling workload, they must spend a larger proportion of their working time on those responsibilities.

Teachers with safeguarded management allowances for administrative and clerical tasks

14. There may be cases where teachers have safeguarded management allowances which were originally given for carrying out tasks that have been transferred to members of the school’s support staff. In accordance with the safeguarding provisions at paragraph 5.1.2, the relevant body must review the teacher’s assigned duties and allocate such additional duties as they consider appropriate and commensurate with the safeguarded sum, for as long as the teacher continues to be paid the safeguarded sum. In the context of the remodelling agenda any such additional duties should be focused on teaching and learning. There is no formal requirement to reach agreement on the nature of the additional duties, although it is good management practice to seek to do so.
15. Members of the leadership group whose previous responsibilities included tasks of an administrative and clerical nature that subsequently transferred to support staff should now be able to focus more on teaching and learning and to fulfil their contractual role, as defined in paragraph 64.2 in the Document. This includes: formulating the aims and objectives of the school; establishing the policies through which they should be achieved; managing staff and resources to that end; and monitoring progress towards their achievement.

16. Headteachers should ensure that these arrangements operate effectively.

Reviewing administrative systems

17. Administrative systems, and specifically the tasks listed in Annex 3, should be regularly reviewed to determine if there are different ways in which tasks can be carried out, or if they need to be carried out at all. No administrative task should be carried out by a teacher, which does not require their professional skills or judgement.
18. When giving administrative and clerical tasks to support staff, headteachers should have regard to the suitability of the task to the member of support staff's current role; whether sufficient time is available or could be freed up; whether additional training is needed; and any implications for pay and grading. Any revision of job descriptions should normally be agreed between the headteacher and the member of staff. Any extension of working hours must be by agreement.
19. Where the need for additional staff is identified, headteachers may wish to take the opportunity to consider whether the new post could embrace a number of the facets of extended support staff roles identified in the National Agreement. Many schools have also benefited from the creation of specific specialist roles such as health and safety officers, examination and timetabling officers, attendance clerks and technical support staff. Small schools may wish to consider whether, for certain tasks, a post (for example, a Bursar) could be shared with a neighbouring school or schools.
20. Experience suggests that support staff will become more efficient in undertaking administrative tasks than teachers, not just because of the better division of labour, but because for them these tasks will be a primary function, rather than an unwanted distraction from teaching and learning.

Management

21. Managing the work of other staff (paragraph 72.11) should not include routinely seeking or giving advice on contractual issues such as pay and conditions of employment. There is no requirement in the Document on teachers to provide such advice. These matters should be referred to the individual with specific responsibility for personnel issues and/or the employer.

22. Teachers have a duty to direct and supervise the work of support staff, including in particular those undertaking teaching and learning activities. However, it should not automatically follow that they are required to undertake formal aspects of their line management. Many schools see it as appropriate and good practice for this role to be undertaken by a more senior member of support staff.

WORK/LIFE BALANCE

Purpose of the provisions

23. All teachers and headteachers should enjoy a reasonable work/life balance. The Document has been amended to reflect this. In relation to headteachers, specific provisions have been put in place through regulations made under section 21 of the Education Act 2002 which put a responsibility on the relevant body (normally a school governing body or LA) to have regard to the work/life balance of the headteacher.

Implementing and monitoring work/life balance

24. Work/life balance is about helping teachers combine work with their personal interests outside work. It can help to recruit and retain better motivated staff through giving them greater control of their working lives and a stronger sense of ownership. A school that is committed to work/life balance:
- recognises that effective practices to promote work/life balance will benefit both teachers and pupils;
 - highlights the joint responsibility to discuss workable solutions and encourages a partnership between individual teachers and their line managers;
 - develops, monitors and evaluates appropriate policies and practical responses that meet the specific needs of the school, having regard to fairness and consistency; valuing teachers for their contribution to raising standards, not their working pattern;
 - communicates its commitment to work/life balance to its staff;
 - demonstrates leadership and encourages senior managers to lead by example.

25. Employers have a duty to employees at common law and a legal duty under health and safety legislation, including the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and related legislation and the Working Time Regulations 1998. In addition, four provisions have been put in place to encourage schools to develop effective work/life balance strategies:
- Additional hours for classroom teachers over and above the annual 1265 must be reasonable;
 - For those teachers (deputy and assistant headteachers, ASTs and fast-track teachers) not covered by the 1265 annual limit on directed time, overall hours should be reasonable;
 - Headteachers must have regard to the desirability of all teachers at the school (including themselves and other members of the leadership group) being able to achieve a satisfactory balance between the time required to discharge their professional duties and the time required to pursue their personal interests outside work;
 - To the extent that headteachers direct their own work, they are covered by the provision above. However, specific provisions have been put in place through regulations made under section 21 of the Education Act 2002 which put a responsibility on the relevant body (be it the school governing body or LA) to have regard to the work/life balance of their headteacher and ensure that they are not required to work unreasonable hours and can achieve a reasonable work/life balance.
26. These changes form part of a wider commitment to secure downward pressure on excessive hours worked in schools over the four years from September 2003, with progressive year on year reductions from the current level of some 52 hours per week during term-time. Overall teacher hours will continue to be monitored by the Office for Manpower Economics on behalf of the School Teachers' Review Body on an annual basis.

27. Individual schools face varying degrees of challenge in achieving this objective. A number of other strategies support headteachers and governing bodies. These include:
- The revision of circulars 2/98 and 22/98 to deal with non-contractual provisions such as the conduct and frequency of meetings. These assist in tackling teacher workload and unnecessary bureaucracy at school level;
 - The change management programmes in England and Wales, including advice and guidance from the Training and Development Agency for Schools (TDA) in England, as part of which schools are able to call on the support of a network of local facilitators/advisers;
 - The operation of the Implementation Review Unit (in England) and the School Workload Advisory Panel (in Wales), which make a concerted attack on unnecessary paperwork and bureaucratic processes for teachers, headteachers and all who work in schools.
28. Effective preparation is essential in both introducing and monitoring work/life balance policies. Headteachers should consider how best to ensure that they monitor the worklife balance of their staff. Consultation with staff and trade union representatives could also aim to develop agreed strategies and procedures for monitoring. It is essential to communicate new or revised policies effectively, perhaps through non-contact days or the inclusion of work/life balance in staff reviews and appraisals.
29. Maintaining effective work/life balance requires ongoing monitoring and evaluation of work pressures. Some teachers may find it difficult to “let go” of work – in such cases headteachers will need to continue to take steps to ensure that such issues are addressed and resolved with the teachers concerned. It is not in the pupils’ interest for teachers to be working excessively long hours.

LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT TIME

Purpose of the provisions

30. Members of the leadership group need time to focus on their leadership responsibilities and be supported in leading the reform agenda and managing change in their schools.

31. Many teachers outside the leadership group also have some form of leadership and management responsibility, including those of subject leaders and co-ordinators, heads of departments or faculties, ASTs, special educational needs co-ordinators and initial teacher training mentors.
 32. Teachers with leadership and management responsibilities are now entitled, as far as is reasonably practicable, to a reasonable allocation of time within school sessions¹ to support the discharge of their responsibilities. This is in addition to the contractual provisions on work/life balance and guaranteed planning, preparation and assessment time (PPA), which was introduced on 1 September 2005.
 33. The provision for leadership and management time applies to all teachers at the school with leadership and management responsibilities, whether employed on permanent, fixed-term or temporary contracts. It also applies to teachers on part-time contracts.
 34. Head teachers are also legally entitled to a reasonable allocation of leadership and management time as a result of this and other amendments. These make it clear that leadership is one of the core duties of a headteacher and that they should be involved in teaching to such extent as may be appropriate having regard to his leadership and other functions and duties. In addition, provision for dedicated headship time was introduced on 1 September 2005.

Implementation

35. Given the varying nature and extent of responsibilities held by teachers, it is difficult to identify a formula for the amount of time which might be appropriate for each responsibility. This is a matter for the school. Schools should keep allocations of leadership and management time under review.
36. The provision of leadership and management time is intended to be a contribution to the time needed to discharge the relevant responsibilities. Subject to that qualification, some time for leadership and management must be allocated within school

(1) The Education (School Day and School Year) (England) Regulations 1999 state that "every day on which a school meets shall be divided into two sessions which shall be separated by a break in the middle of the day" and that "at least 380 sessions shall be held at a school during any school year". Under SI1999/2255 heads are required to inform parents of "the times at which each school session begins and ends on a school day".

sessions, taking account of the nature and extent of the responsibilities of each member of staff and the management structure of the school. In order for the time to be meaningful, it should not be allocated in short blocks, for example ten to twenty minutes here and there.

37. The Document requires cover to be allocated on an equitable basis. While leadership and management time may be used for cover within the contractual limits, it should not be used disproportionately.
38. Time for leadership and management can be identified using one, or a combination, of the following strategies:
 - Existing non-contact time already allocated specifically for that purpose;
 - Re-designation of some or all of any non-contact time previously allocated to support a variety of tasks, including those which do not require the professional expertise of a qualified teacher (and which should therefore be carried out by appropriate support staff);
 - The release of teachers from pupil contact time which does not involve teaching. This includes pupil supervision, registration, attendance at assemblies and other similar tasks that can be carried out by appropriate support staff. Where appropriate, this should be in accordance with the provisions of the regulations and guidance made under section 133 of the Education Act 2002.
39. All schools should ensure that the allocation of leadership and management time is reasonable.
40. Schools should have ensured that whatever had already been done in relation to the provision of leadership and management time was sustainable in the context of PPA time.

No detriment

41. Where teachers already had timetabled non-contact time for leadership and management responsibilities, which was unaffected by the contractual change relating to administrative and clerical tasks, the amount of time should not have been reduced as a result of the implementation of the contractual changes relating to leadership and management time.

ASSIGNED TEACHERS

Purpose of the provisions

42. These changes were related to regulations made under section 133 of the Education Act 2002 and accompanying guidance. They were designed to protect the role of the qualified teacher and prevent job substitution. The provisions should be read in conjunction with the section 133 regulations and accompanying guidance.
43. The section 133 regulations clarify the respective roles of qualified teachers and other staff in schools, and specify circumstances under which certain kinds of staff without qualified teacher status (usually support staff) may carry out 'specified work' related to teaching and learning, including requirements for appropriate direction and supervision of support staff by a teacher.
44. The changes to the Document place a duty on headteachers to ensure that each class or group timetabled for core and foundation subjects and for religious education and each class or group in the foundation stage has a teacher assigned to teach it. The assigned teacher is responsible for the progress of the pupils in the class/group over the course of the academic year. Assigned teachers may be assisted in their work by other teachers deployed on the timetable to take that class/group for particular activities or lessons and/or by support staff, some of whom may carry out 'specified work'.
45. Paragraph 4 of Schedule 2 of the regulations concerns the appointment of instructors – person with special qualifications or experience or both. In circumstances where there is no qualified teacher, or trainee on the Graduate, Registered or Overseas-Trained Teacher Programmes available for an appointment, the body which normally appoints staff in the relevant school, either the LA or Governing Body, may appoint an instructor, provided that they have made the necessary judgement as to the instructor's qualifications and experience.

Purpose of the provisions

46. Cover for absence is not an effective use of the time of teachers at a school. In the past, many teachers have borne a heavy burden of cover for absent colleagues, but this should be increasingly unusual. Downward pressure on cover should continue, to deliver the objective in the National Agreement that teachers at a school should only rarely cover for absent colleagues.

Definition of absence

47. Absence occurs when the teacher normally responsible for teaching a particular class is absent from the classroom during the time they have been timetabled to teach. The absence could be for a variety of reasons, including internal and external activities as well as sickness. It could be short-term or long-term. All absence needs to be carefully managed to minimise the impact on teaching and learning for the pupil.
48. On 1 September 2004, two contractual changes on cover came into effect:
- a limit on the amount of cover that can be provided by an individual teacher; and
 - an amended duty for headteachers to ensure that cover for absent teachers is shared equitably among all teachers in the school (including the headteacher), taking account of their teaching and other duties, and of the desirability of not using a teacher at the school until all other reasonable means of providing cover have been exhausted.
49. The contractual changes apply to all teachers at a school, including teachers on the leadership spine and ASTs whether on permanent, fixed-term or temporary contracts and pro-rata to teachers on part-time contracts. A similar amendment to paragraph 60.3.4 also ensures that headteachers are covered by the contractual limit.

50. Schools should expect to implement the objective that teachers should only rarely cover from 1 September 2009. In the meantime, schools should set their own interim targets, informed by the latest OME data² which serves as a benchmark, to ensure they are ready to meet the objective of teachers rarely covering from 1 September 2009.

Reducing the burden of cover

51. From 1 September 2004, each individual teacher has had a 38-hour limit on the amount of cover he/she can be required to do in each academic year. This limit must not be exceeded. No weekly or termly limit within the 38 hours is identified within the contractual limit. However, headteachers should seek to ensure, as far as practicable, an even spread of cover throughout each term.
52. All cover for absence undertaken by teachers at a school counts towards the limit. The Document requires cover to be allocated on an equitable basis. Where schools designate on the timetable non-contact periods specifically for cover these must count towards the 38 hour limit on the occasions when they are used. Leadership and management time can also be used for cover but should not be used disproportionately. The time used counts against the limit.
53. The guaranteed PPA time of teachers at a school forms part of the legal conditions of employment and cannot be used for cover.

Gained time

54. During the academic year, particularly in the summer term, teachers who take examination classes/groups are often released from some of their timetabled teaching commitments as a result of pupils being on study or examination leave. Such time is known as gained time.
55. There are activities directly relevant to teaching and learning for which it would be appropriate and desirable to use gained time and which it would be reasonable for a headteacher to direct teachers to undertake. An agreed list of these activities is listed below:

- Developing/revising departmental/subject curriculum materials, schemes of work, lesson plans and policies in preparation for the new academic year. This may include identifying appropriate materials for use by supply staff and/or cover supervisors;
 - Assisting colleagues in appropriate, planned team teaching activities;
 - Taking groups of pupils to provide additional learning support;
 - Supporting selected pupils with coursework;
 - Undertaking planned activities with pupils transferring between year groups or from primary schools;
 - Where the school has a policy for all staff to release them for CPD during school sessions, gained time may be used for such activities.
56. If teachers are directed to cover during gained time, it must count towards the 38-hour limit.

Educational visits

57. Educational visits are planned activities. Where teachers are absent due to participating in such activities, the absence is most appropriately covered by supply teachers or by using cover supervision. If a teacher at the school is used to cover for such an absence the amount of cover will count towards the limit.
58. Where a teacher acquires non-contact time in the timetable as a result of a class or group they would normally have taught being absent on an educational visit, then the guidance for gained time above should apply. Activities to be undertaken by teachers in such gained time must be planned well in advance of the visit.
59. The extended roles for support staff, which are an integral part of the remodelling agenda, provide the opportunity for schools to consider the use of appropriate adults, other than teachers, to undertake educational visits.

Exceptions

60. The only exceptions to the application of the contractual limit are teachers employed wholly or mainly to undertake cover.

No detriment

61. The amount of cover undertaken by teachers varies from school to school. There may also be minor variations for individual teachers from year to year.
62. Prior to the introduction of the contractual limit, in some schools teachers already did considerably less than 38 hours, while in others they did significantly more. Where the burden of cover was already less than 38 hours, no steps should be taken which would result in a worsening of the working conditions at the time.

Strategies for managing cover

63. Absence needs to be dealt with in a managed way to ensure that all possible steps are taken to enable pupils to continue to learn in spite of a teacher's absence. The strategies for managing cover need to take account of the type of absence. For example, long-term sickness, or maternity leave, will be more predictable and, therefore, more manageable than sudden illness. In order to protect pupil standards, longer-term absences should normally be covered by a qualified teacher.
64. Schools have a range of options for providing cover, including through supply teachers, higher level teaching assistants, cover supervisors, "floating teachers" employed for the purposes of cover, and, where other options have been exhausted, teachers employed at the school (within their contractual limit of 38 hours).

Supply teachers

65. Supply teachers can be used to cover for all types of absence. Where supply teachers are providing cover, they must, as far as reasonably possible, be actively teaching and not mainly supervising pupils.
66. It is also important that they are managed properly and effectively, with regard to their teaching and developmental needs. They should have appropriate access to CPD to maintain their standards of subject knowledge, pedagogy and behaviour management skills.

67. Schools are encouraged to adopt good practice in the use of supply teachers. This includes:
- careful induction into the school using materials that are matched to their period of employment;
 - the provision of simply structured and clearly explained medium-term and short-term plans that also define the teaching expectations, the resources to be used, the demands that should be made of the class and the homework that should be set;
 - the provision of information about the abilities and prior attainment of the pupils in the class;
 - effective management so that all involved understand what is required and the professional standards that must be met.

These measures were identified in an OfSTED report on schools' use of temporary teachers (December 2002).

68. Schools also need to have regard to the Part-Time Workers' Regulations which in certain circumstances may apply to supply teachers. Those who are not casual (i.e. not employed on a day-to-day basis) have, under these regulations, an entitlement to pro-rata terms and conditions enjoyed by other teachers at the school. This would include access to CPD enjoyed by teachers at the school.

Cover supervision

69. Cover for short-term absences may be provided by persons who are not qualified teachers. To the extent that, during the period of cover, such persons are involved in specified work, they must operate subject to the regulations made under section 133 of the 2002 Education Act and accompanying guidance. Many schools have in the past employed such staff on a casual as required basis but now a permanent arrangement is likely to be more manageable and effective.
70. Those providing cover supervision may be existing members of staff whose job description has been reviewed in accordance with the first joint guidance note issued by the Workforce Agreement Monitoring Group (April 2003) or they may be new staff appointed on contracts which have a defined range of appropriate administrative or support tasks, but which include cover as one of their key functions.

71. The headteacher needs to ensure that any persons used in this way have been appropriately trained, particularly in pupil behaviour management. Such training is essential if those responsible for cover supervision are to make a real contribution to reducing the burdens on teachers.
72. Cover supervision is particularly valid where work has been set, or where pupils are able to undertake effective self-directed learning, for example within an ICT Learning Centre in a school. Strategies should be devised to ensure that the arrangements for providing appropriate work for pupils who are being supervised do not place excessive additional burdens of planning, preparation and assessment on teachers. This could include developing banks of appropriate material and/or attaching a cover supervisor to a year band, department or faculty to enable them to, for example, support the teachers in administrative tasks and to be involved in the planning and preparation of cover when necessary.

Higher level teaching assistants

73. The primary function of higher level teaching assistants is to support and assist teachers. They may be deployed as one of the strategies schools choose to release teachers for guaranteed PPA time, provided that they carry out work specified in the regulations made under section 133 of the 2002 Education Act under the direction and supervision of a teacher.
74. In addition, they may be used for short-term cover, but headteachers would need to balance their use in this way against the educational desirability of regularly removing them from planned activities with the teachers to whom they are normally assigned.

Maintaining a record of cover

75. The member of the support staff administering the cover arrangements should keep a record of the amount of cover undertaken by each teacher. It is also advisable to maintain records of cover undertaken by other staff whose contract and job description specifies that a proportion of their time is/will be available to provide cover supervision.

2005 CHANGES

EXAM INVIGILATION

Purpose of the provisions

76. Invigilating examinations is not a productive use of teachers' time. From September 2005, teachers have no longer been routinely required to invigilate external examinations (e.g. National Curriculum tests, GCSE and AS/A2 examinations). Schools should have worked towards these changes and maximised the use of support staff as external examination invigilators, prior to the contractual change.
77. Teachers may, however, be required to conduct practical and oral examinations in their own subject area and to undertake the preparation of pupils and those aspects of assessment, recording and reporting associated with external examinations which require the professional input of a qualified teacher.
78. Teachers may also be required to invigilate internal examinations and tests where these take place during their normal timetabled teaching time. However, if a school reorganises the timetable for 'mock' examinations to replicate the external examination process then teachers should not be required to invigilate.
79. The principle underpinning the change is that invigilation does not require a teacher's professional expertise. In this context, it is a reasonable expectation that, subject to the agreement of the head of centre (usually the headteacher), a teacher should be present at the beginning of an external examination in their subject area to check the paper and to ensure that there are no problems with it. Those invigilating the examination should be made aware of the procedure for dealing with emergencies and for contacting a teacher in the subject area under examination should any candidate raise a concern or problem with the paper which requires their professional judgement. It may also be appropriate for a teacher to be present at the end of an external examination to ensure its efficient conclusion.
80. None of the tasks outlined in paragraph 79 above constitutes invigilation and all of them require a teacher's professional expertise. When carrying out such tasks, teachers should not be expected to stay in the examination hall/room for any longer than is necessary to perform them.

GUARANTEED PLANNING, PREPARATION AND ASSESSMENT TIME

Purpose of the provisions

81. The purpose of guaranteed planning, preparation and assessment (PPA) time is to relieve some of the existing workload pressures on teachers and to raise standards by providing some time for PPA within the timetabled teaching day.
82. Since 1 September 2005, all teachers at a school (including headteachers) with timetabled teaching commitments, whether employed on permanent, fixed-term, temporary or part-time contracts, have had a contractual entitlement to guaranteed PPA within the timetabled teaching day.

Principles underpinning the allocation and use of guaranteed PPA time

83. The amount of guaranteed PPA time should be set as at least 10% of a teacher's timetabled teaching time. Only teaching time within a teacher's 1265 contracted hours counts for these purposes, not other forms of pupil contact.
84. Guaranteed PPA time should be provided as part of a teacher's normal weekly or fortnightly timetable. It must take place, therefore, during the timetabled teaching day (i.e. during the time in which pupils are taught at the school) and must not be bolted on before or after pupil sessions. In order for the time to be put to meaningful use by the teacher, it must be allocated in blocks of no less than 30 minutes.
85. Guaranteed PPA time must be used for planning, preparation and assessment – these duties are contained in the relevant paragraphs of the Document. The time must not be encroached upon, including by any obligation to cover for absent colleagues. It is for the teacher to determine the particular PPA priorities for each block of guaranteed PPA time, although that does not preclude them from choosing to use some of the time to support collaborative activities.

No detriment

86. The 10% guaranteed PPA time is a minimum figure. Any teacher who was already in receipt of more than this amount of time specifically for PPA prior to the introduction of this change should not have had his/her existing allocation reduced to 10%.

Implementation

87. For teachers who did not previously have a regular timetabled allocation of non-contact time, a reduction in teaching time will have been necessary to provide guaranteed PPA time.
88. Other teachers may previously have received non-contact time, some or all of which may have been designated for PPA-related activities. Where additional time was needed to meet the minimum allocation for such teachers, then one, or a combination, of the following strategies may have been necessary:
- A reduction in teaching time;
 - Changes in the use of existing non-contact time;
 - Redesignation and redistribution of non-contact time currently allocated to teachers in the school for other tasks which will transfer to appropriate support staff, such as the administration of cover, organisation of work experience and the administration of examinations.
89. For example, a teacher who is timetabled to teach 20 hours out of a 25-hour teaching week must receive at least two hours of guaranteed PPA time. This time must appear on the teacher's timetable. Any non-contact time allocated for other activities (e.g. non-guaranteed PPA time, meetings, time for leadership and management responsibilities, and any time set aside to provide cover) must be additional to the guaranteed PPA time.
90. It should be noted that, in some cases, it is possible that teaching commitments will increase as a result of remodelling. For example, a teacher who previously had a reduced teaching load to enable them to carry out responsibilities that are now undertaken by support staff may have more time to teach once that transfer has taken place.

Use of higher level teaching assistants

91. Some schools may choose to use higher level teaching assistants (HLTAs) as one of the strategies for releasing teachers for guaranteed PPA time, providing that the headteacher is satisfied that the HLTA meets all the provisions of the regulations and guidance made under section 133 of the Education Act 2002. Where HLTAs are deployed in this way, the teacher's guaranteed PPA time must not be encroached upon. In case of problems with a class, the HLTA should use the school's usual referral system, in the same way a teacher would in case of difficulties or an emergency.
92. In some cases, HLTAs will be deployed to release teachers with whom they work regularly and where they are familiar with the programme of work of the class. This will help to maintain continuity and to enable the work of the HLTAs to be incorporated into the teachers' normal PPA cycle.
93. Other schools may deploy HLTAs in specialist roles where they have relevant expertise and/or training (for example, in sport or modern foreign languages), under the direction and supervision of a single teacher in the school. In either case, arrangements for deploying HLTAs should aim to reduce the overall workload burden on the teachers they support.

Newly qualified teachers

94. In addition to their guaranteed PPA time, newly qualified teachers also benefit from the contractual provisions of paragraph 60.8.5. This states that teachers serving induction periods under the induction regulations do not teach for more than 90% of the time a teacher at that school who does not receive payments in respect of additional duties or responsibilities would be expected to teach.

DEDICATED HEADSHIP TIME

Purpose of the provisions

95. Head teachers must have dedicated time to lead their schools, as well as manage them. Therefore, with effect from September 2005, governing bodies have needed to ensure that headteachers have dedicated headship time, having regard to resources in the school and to further national guidance that is being developed.

Context

96. Issues remain where headteachers with significant teaching loads (for example those who teach for more than 50% of the school timetable) have inadequate time during school sessions for their leadership and managerial role. The momentum behind the remodelling of the school workforce and a number of other specific provisions that have been introduced have helped here. These include:
- The work/life balance provisions;
 - The introduction of leadership and management time and reference to the leadership function in paragraph 58 of the Document, which will effectively limit how much teaching a head can be expected to do;
 - The limits on cover;
 - Guaranteed PPA time, commensurate with their teaching load.
